

FIGHT UPON LOS ANGELES HARBOR.

San Francisco Senators Win Point in the Game.

Hurd Bill Referred to Senate Judiciary Committee.

Opposition to Measure Open and Very Persistent.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 15.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) San Francisco gained its point against the Los Angeles harbor bill today when the Hurd bill, repealing the law giving the Governor authority to appoint pilots for the harbors of San Pedro and Wilmington, was sent to the Judiciary Committee because of the "legal" question involved. It was not until then that there was a wordy war between Hurd, Wolf, Welsh, Gates and Hewitt.

The bill was questioned by Welch on the ground that it involved the policy of "State control" of all harbors and that it "believed" that Los Angeles was "a part of the State."

Welsh, when asked by Hewitt that the city has jurisdiction over the harbor under her charter, replied that if this had been known four years ago when the harbor amendments were approved it would have been opposed. He said it was not known that Los Angeles was a free harbor.

To which Hurd answered: "I brought the amendments here as City Attorney for Los Angeles and it required six weeks to get the Legislature to approve them. And Los Angeles has been fighting for a free harbor twenty-five years, as the whole South at least knows."

"Was there opposition?" asked Wolf.

"Not openly," said Hewitt.

GATES SURPRISES EM.

Gates surprised his colleagues by asserting that the bill involved the consideration of the legal aspects of the charter of the city and the general policy and interest of the State and supported the San Francisco delegation for reference to the Judiciary Committee.

"The charter control of this harbor," said Hewitt, "is not a matter for determination by either the Judiciary Committee or the Senate itself and such questions are not in any way involved in the bill under consideration."

Hurd said and went on to say that the San Francisco delegation about the jealousy of that city toward any other port of the State, Estadillo intervened to prevent a rejoinder from the North and said he would support reference to the Judiciary Committee but would there support Los Angeles. Senator Thompson also suggested reference and finally Hewitt acquiesced and the reference was made without a vote.

The San Francisco members predicted that the passage of the bill repealing an obsolete law would put all the other ports at disadvantage in such a fight. Wright of San Diego said he did not want anything done that would leave San Diego without pilots, but that he will give support to the measure if it affects Los Angeles only.

OPPOSITION SURE.

The impression created by the debate is that Hewitt and Hurd have not the full backing of their colleagues in the harbor fight, although he has expressed satisfaction with the proposed legislation. It is thought that opposition is intended to be a preliminary to San Francisco.

It is plain to everyone, however, that San Francisco is prepared to block every piece of legislation Los Angeles is asking for in harbor. Evidence of this was found in the Assembly Committee, which rejected the bill of Benefield coding the side lands to Los Angeles favorably, but one member accompanied his vote with an explanation that he will fight the bill on the floor. This declaration, coming from an anti-San Francisco ready voter for the Oakland side lands session, is not to be misunderstood, especially as this declaration is unconditional and absolute. While Denman provides for reversion to the State if public use by the municipality should be violated in any way.

The Senate Judiciary Committee was to have considered the side lands bill of Los Angeles, San Diego and Oakland this afternoon, but the discussion of the recall proved so hot that they were taken up today.

VOTE DOWN RECALL.

Assembly Refuses to Act Contrary to Majority Report of Committee on Election in Baumbarger Contest.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 15.—The Assembly voted today against a recount of votes in the election contest of E. J. Baumbarger against Assemblyman Edward P. Walsh, of the Thirty-seventh Assembly District, San Francisco. The vote was taken on the question of the adoption of the majority report of the committee on contested elections, which having considered the contest, recommended that the vote be counted as it stood.

Chairman Gaylord of the committee and Assemblyman Cohn submitted a minority report which the latter in an extended address before the Assembly sought to have adopted, declaring that evidence had been presented to the committee showing gross carelessness in the counting of the votes.

A heated colloquy developed between Assemblymen Cohn and Cronin as to the relative political cleanliness of San Francisco and Contra Costa county. Mr. Cronin's motion was lost, 41 to 15.

A motion by Mr. Baumbarger to reconsider the vote by which Mr. Baumbarger's motion, making the sale of bonds without municipal or county license a State offense, was lost, 50 to 42.

STARVING CHINESE RIOTING.

Serious Demonstrations Reported From Nanking—Women Aid in Raid Upon Shops, Looting Establishments.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
VICTORIA (B. C.) Feb. 15.—Serious rioting by thousands of famine-stricken refugees arrived at Nanking from the mine district was reported by arrivals on the steamer Esmeralda today.

The hungry horde, over a thousand strong, broke into the city January 28, after having been marched outside the walls. They raided the shops near the south gate, carrying off everything eatable. Women plundered the men in plundering and many stores were wrecked. The disturbance was continued on the following day.

No attempt was made to molest foreigners or others who did not resist the raiders. Troops were sent and officials dispatched to distribute money and food.

and Oakland, on both sides of the question, is expected.

It is now conceded that some kind of a bill limiting the hours of labor for women will be passed. It also appears that the Senate Judiciary Committee is not satisfied that any exception, such as the southern rice pickers or cannery employees desire, may be validly inserted. If this decision is reached, the limit of hours may be made nine, or possibly ten to prevent a revolutionary readjustment in the South.

DISLIKE BOARD OF REGENTS.

Throop Polytechnic School Authorities Unwilling to Transfer to State on That Account.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 15.—It is doubtful tonight if the State will take over Throop Polytechnic Institute, despite assurances of coming endowments of millions. At a meeting of the Committee of Education today it was agreed to recommend appropriations of $100,000 for maintenance and authorities of the school said they were ready to transfer absolute title to the State, but refused to agree that the institute be placed under the State Board of Regents. Senator Caminetti insisted that this should be the case. The bill was reported with recommendation that it do pass, but it is feared that the fight over the schools' educational independence will defeat the measure. Dr. James Scherer spoke for the school.

STEAMER SINKS IN GALE.

ROSEN (France), Feb. 15.—The captain of the Spanish steamer Ollargan which has arrived here, informed the Spanish consul that the Spanish steamer Abasco, which left Rotterdam for Bilbao at the same time as the Ollargan, foundered in a tempest and seventy passengers and the crew perished.

SUPREME COURT DEMANDS THAT ITS ACTS BE INVESTIGATED.

Tribunal Takes Unusual Course Following Clamor of Legislative Freaks in State Capital—Judiciary Committee Holds Stormy Session Debating Question of Recall of Judges.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 15.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The recall of the Judiciary presented itself before the Senate today in two phases. First, the judges of the Supreme Court, who have been under the fire of the recallists since the Abe Ruef decision three weeks ago, sent a request for a legislative investigation of their judicial acts. In the afternoon the Judiciary Committee held a stormy session debating the question of the recall of judges.

Running through the whole proceedings of the day was the question, "Is the present or recall?" The action of the Supreme Court itself gave the suggestion of impeachment and it was carried out before the Judiciary Committee, when the Gates recall amendment was brought up by William Denman, of San Francisco, who presented the State Bar Association's objection to recalling the Judiciary. He declared it a radical step not based on the experience of any other civilized nation, and one that not even advanced Australia, Switzerland or England have suggested.

A feature of the committee hearing was the free use of the names of members of the supreme bench in connection with judicial delinquency. Denman mentioned Henshaw, Loran and Melvin as the who were "whispered" about in the Legislature.

"If you whisper about them, I suppose you will not fear to speak to them about it," said Denman.

"I have not whispered," said Shastan of Shasta. There was a chorus of the same response.

Following Denman made a moot case of Justice Henshaw, and arraigned him before the bar of the Legislature on an accusation of signing five writs before he left the State, which was the Ruef writ. He even stated what Henshaw's defense would be. Denman was seeking to show that the Legislature could make a short shrift for any judge it felt ought to be summarily removed by concurrent resolution under the legislation as it now stands. The fact under the very section (section of article X.) that Henshaw presented.

URGES INVESTIGATION.

Denman's whole attitude seemed to be to urge investigation and impeachment as a remedy at hand without necessity of the recall. It was so understood by the committee.

Gates said he would ask in all twenty-four amendments to the constitution to raise the percentage for recall. One increases the percentage for recall from 8 to 12 per cent. and requires a petition from at least five counties. This he admitted will permit the recall of a legislator by 12 per cent. petition. The amendment is palpably to appease Caminetti. He also raises the percentage for the recall of municipal and county officials from 15 to 25 per cent.

Senator Wright urged the inclusion of all officials, elective and appointive. While the recall is being initiated, he said, he believed it should be done right. He pointed out that there are many appointees who might not be reached by recalling the elective officer making the appointment.

REPORTED CASE OF BRUTALITY AT FOLSOM TO BE LOOKED INTO.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 15.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) An amendment to the laws permitting the Assembly Committee on Prisons and Reforms to visit San Quentin and Folsom in a body and take a stenographer is more than a mere formality, will be reached by recalling the elective officer making the appointment.

The committee, of which Charles of Santa Ana and Cattell of Pasadena are part of the membership, will go to San Quentin Wednesday. Little is expected there.

But at Folsom much is expected. It has developed that a convict has reported to the Governor that extreme brutality exists there and that as late as February 1, a prisoner was in the straight jacket for eight days. When taken down he was pronounced dead by the physician, but several hours' work resuscitated him. He is now in the hospital.

As there are several bills pending directed at the straight jacket, "third degree" and other prison horrors, the Governor has directed that the investigation be thorough. It is said.

"But," he added, smiling, "if some nefarious intention of the kind mentioned in this article should be put into action, the British comes to the worst. I shall call upon my honorable friends, as a gallant soldier, to disprove it and to guard our interests."

Mr. Knox, the Prime Minister placed the matter in my hands officially. He said the colonel, smiling, "If so, I shall proceed to Washington immediately."

Mr. Knox, said the reciprocity agreement would bring competition to the fruit industry of Canada. He also quoted reports of the speech made by Champlain, and said it was an unveiling of the real intention of the United States in making the reciprocity agreement.

Hugh Guthrie, a leading supporter of the government, scoffed at the idea. "In spite of what Champlain or anyone else may say, the reciprocity agreement does not imply the annexation of Canada to the United States, or the severance of the connection," said Mr. Guthrie. He said the reciprocal agreement between the two countries did not in any case lead to political union. This agreement, Mr. Guthrie said in closing, will be a good thing for both countries.

RECIPROCITY ALREADY AT WORK IN ENGLAND.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
OTTAWA (Ont.) Feb. 15.—W. D. Smith, Superintendent of Immigration, informed the House of Commons today that the removal of the American tariff on foodstuffs as provided by the pending reciprocity agreement had resulted in an increase in the number of inquiries from American farmers who contemplated locating in Canada.

SECRETARY KNOX AND J. J. HILL UNITE TO ADVOCATE RECIPROCITY.

Head of State Department, in Chicago Address Scouts Annexation Danger, and Urges Growing Need as Reason Enough for Adoption of Trade Agreement—Railroad Builder Declares for Measure.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Secretary of State Knox and James J. Hill joined tonight in urging the adoption by the United States Senate of the reciprocity agreement with Canada. Both spoke at a banquet given by the Chicago Association of Commerce, at which the persons representing almost every line of commercial and municipal organization from a score of western cities listened and applauded.

Secretary Knox related the history of trade agreements between the countries from the year 1845.

The agreement is an example of constructive statesmanship, contrasting many matters before Congress, according to Mr. Hill.

FASHIONED TO LARGE ENDS.

"It is fashioned to large national ends," he said, "and inspired by a policy the greatest minds of the country have approved."

Though the people of the United States and Canada are "a substantial homogeneous people" with "deep moral and racial reciprocities," the benefits of the proposed commercial treaty with Canada "ought not to be obscured by the fear of relations too cordial and conceivably dangerous to the great Canadian loyalty to England," said Mr. Knox.

Mr. Knox declared that while reciprocity would constantly and as freely between Canada and the United States as between two States of one country and while the two peoples would be united together for the first time, "there is not the slightest probability that this racial and cultural union will involve any political change or annexation or absorption."

"It is an ethnological fact that political units of the English-speaking people never lose their autonomy," said Secretary Knox. "Like better give of their own, who set up for themselves independently, but they do make political combinations among themselves. Since the revolution there has been almost undisturbed peace and harmony between the two countries, and however political changes may come, the weight of sentiment and opinion will be in favor of the United States, while desiring closer relations in all other respects, is in a belief that the present political separation is a desirable policy as a matter of course, and will lead to the best development of each nation and to better and more satisfactory relations between them."

WORLD ACT IS CONCERN.

"In the higher atmosphere and broader aspects of the situation, it is certain that if there should be any great world movement involving this States would, as a matter of course, act in the most perfect concert in defense of the common rights of a common blood and civilization."

Declaring that the reciprocity proposition was "economic, not political," Mr. Knox asserted: "The satisfaction that the United States recognizes with Canada is a permanent North American political unit and that her autonomy is secured. The United States appreciates the advantage to the common welfare of the continent that the strength of Great Britain, plus the strength of Great Britain, is a permanent ally."

Secretary Knox prefaced his argument allaying fears of Canadian annexation by outlining the trade relations between the United States and Canada, and then remarked that more than half a century the United States and Canada have repeated effort testified and reaffirmed the principle of American-Canadian reciprocity.

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

Sketching briefly the negotiations between Canada and the United States from the time of the passage of the reciprocity act of 1845 and its abrogation in 1866, Mr. Knox pointed out the subsequent efforts on both sides of the line to promote reciprocal trade.

"Our task was, despite all this," continued Mr. Knox, "to submit to the people of the United States and to the people of Canada an opportunity to cement the commercial links which it is decreed shall unite us. The agreement submitted to Congress by the President is the result. It is a compromise in principle and avoids the objection which was one cause in the abrogation of the Elgin-Mary treaty of 1854—that it is not limited to one class of commodities. It is meant for the conditions of today and the conditions of the future."

"Recognizing the condition which exists in our own country and without undertaking to produce the causes which have led to the increased cost of living, the agreement seeks to give our millions of wage earning consumers the benefit of the surplus food supplies nearest hand. It seeks to provide for the freest possible interchange of commodities across a political boundary, which when it comes to production and commerce is an artificial boundary, to prevent fluctuations in prices which are harmful both to the producer and to the consumer. It may be stated as an axiom that the more abundant the source of supply and the more free the movement of products the less chance there is of depression of the legitimate profits of the producer and of increasing the cost to the consumer by artificial scarcity."

"While reciprocity agreement limited to natural products would be beneficial, nevertheless it is such an agreement should be really comprehensive the terms should include manufactured commodities also. This, too, is done. Rates are mutually reduced on a large variety of manufactured goods. The tariff has been even larger had the Dominion reached the stage of industrial development in which the tariff could include a greater number of articles."

Special regard for "the great class of agricultural producers," of the United States and Canada, and for the legitimate expansion of our manufacturing industries," was given during the recent negotiations, added Mr. Knox, in explaining the reductions on all classes of agricultural implements, the free admission of cottonseed oil into Canada, and the free admission of all fruits and vegetables and other agricultural products of which some sections have a surplus at certain seasons.

The benefits are generally distributed in Mr. Knox's opinion and the reciprocal agreement is a producing class is approached.

BAR TO CORNERS.

Speaking of the provision for free wheat, Mr. Knox pointed out that the transportation facilities of the United States for handling the surplus Canadian grain must be taken into account, thus preventing "the demoralization of prices which results through the dumping of large quantities upon the European markets, where the world's supply is fixed." He declared that the free admission of grain from Canada would meet the present situation and place the control in the hands of the American grain growers.

"The principal complaints against the measure," continued Mr. Knox, "come from the politicians who have been based on his interest in the protective tariff is based on the tariffs on agricultural products rather than upon the general prosperity of the country, or they are heard from some local special interests."

"It is significant how little is said about who got the best of the bargain. The general observation is one of gratification that the arrangement is beneficial to both countries. The breadth and unselfish nature of the agreement is emphasized and glowing words of good relations between the countries are as were the early ruinous trade wars between the States."

"A generous measure of reciprocity between Canada and the United States is a natural expression of their independence. Efforts to restrain hamper and interfere with its realization will be as futile and unprofitable as were the early ruinous trade wars between the States."

"The reasons for reciprocity are very real and striking and ought to lift the consideration of the result of the negotiations to a high plane and make the large comprehension of the greater reasons and motives of human and national relations and rise above mere bargaining of trade advantages."

ILLINOIS LEADERS CLASH ON RECIPROCITY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Feb. 15.—President Taft's Canadian reciprocity policy was the subject of controversy among republican Senate leaders here today. Senator Jones urged that the organization go out on the floor and vote an immediate endorsement of the treaty now before Congress.

Senator Bailey, who received the anti-Canadian reciprocity letter from Speaker Cannon last Saturday, said he would recommend such action by the Illinois Senate, providing an amendment to the resolution favoring reciprocity with Mexico, as well as with Canada.

Senator Jones is then said to have accused Senator Bailey of having attempted to embarrass the State administration at the time President Taft was in Springfield last Saturday, Senator Bailey making an emphatic denial.

A hasty motion was rushed through the caucus to postpone action on the question of Canadian reciprocity.

LOCUST PLAGUE DUE THIS YEAR.

GRUBS FOUND IN EXCAVATION NEAR NEW YORK.

All Ready for Business After Seventeen Years of Hatching. News Disturbs Farmers, But Chinese Welcome It—Dish Them Up in Pies, Roasts, Salads, Etc.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)
NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The seventeen-year locust which are due to return to plague the American farmer this summer, after being absent since 1894, have made their appearance in the vicinity of New York City. Curator Dimock of the New York Zoological Society has discovered the first grubs, several thousand in number, in an excavation near Nyack, N. Y. By the time the frost is out of the ground, these thousands will be millions, he says.

During the last previous visitation, the locusts literally covered suburban New York, stripping trees, bushes, hedges, lawns and truck farms of everything green, then moving, in vast clouds which obscured the sun, to fresh fields. The individual locusts lived only a few days, but each female found time to lay about five hundred eggs on the branches of denuded trees. When the larvae hatched they fell to the ground and burrowed straight down for more than a foot.

There, it is said, they have rested for seventeen years before the process of hatching was complete, and as soon as the frost leaves the ground they will dig their way to the surface and appear as small oblong shells.

The grubs found in the excavation at Nyack are said to be completely formed and ready to come to the surface as soon as the earth warms up.

Chinatown will welcome the visitation. The Chinese make them into pies, roast them, eat them as a salad and dress them in many mysterious ways, and even New Yorkers have found some of these dishes palatable.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) J. K. Boynton, aged 38 years, a wealthy face powder manufacturer of Asheville, N. C., and Miss Esther Thomas, of Louisville, Ky., aged 19, a blonde of considerable beauty, were married today in the Parish Prison.

"He'll never regret it," said Esther.
"I've learned lots by my experience and will make him a good wife."

Esther was indiscreet in Louisville and went to Jacksonville, Fla., to hide her folly. There Boynton found her.
Desiring to reform her, he said, he brought her to New Orleans. His idea of reform consisted in supporting her in a rooming-house.

Esther thought that wasn't getting her far along the narrow path, so one night she started out with $119 from Boynton's pockets, also his diamonds.
She tried to get to Memphis, but missed a train, and was arrested. But Boynton relented and married her.
And their troubles are over, at least for the present.

Woman Babbles Plot While

Redding Jeweler Selected as

Armed Guards Stationed at Door of His Store.

(Associated Press Day Report.)

REDDING (Cal.) Feb. 15.—Through unguarded statements made while drinking, a woman living in Kennett, giving the name of Hella Whiteley, divulged, according to the police, the plot of a carefully planned diamond robbery plan in this city. The would-be robbers had planned to steal $10,000 worth of diamonds.

With the woman was a man who gave the name of Whitney. Both have left Kennett and are officers are looking for them. In the meantime two armed men are stationed in the building opposite the jewelry store of Frank Dobrowsky, with instructions to shoot any one who may be seen trying to force an entrance.

About one week ago Hella Whiteley came to Frank Dobrowsky's jewelry store and asked to see his stock of diamonds with a view of purchasing one or more of the gems. After looking at the stones she said some of them were large enough to sell her.

Frank Dobrowsky told her that he would send to the wholesale house in San Francisco, asking that a representative be sent to this city with $40,000 worth of diamonds.

After arranging to have the jeweler notify her by telephone of the arrival of the diamonds from San Francisco, she left the store and Dobrowsky's store, and sent Whitney to the jewelry store and steal all the diamonds in the place some night between yesterday and February 20. This soon reached the ears of the police, who at once took care to frustrate the plans of the robbers.

The diamonds brought from San Francisco were kept in the Dobrowsky store, but in the hope of apprehending the robbers in their attempt to burglarize the jewelry store, armed men were placed in the building opposite last night.

SLOVAKS OF WINDY CITY PROTEST AGAINST PRESENCE OF COUNT.

(Associated Press Night Report.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Decided opposition has been raised by Bohemian, Slovak and Polish editors and citizens of Chicago to the invitation extended Count Albert G. Apponyi, former Hungarian minister of education, to speak at "Universal Peace" at the Washington birthday celebration here.

A memorial was presented today to Chairman Alexander A. McCormick of the Union League Club's special committee in charge of the celebration, signed by the editors of all papers in Chicago printed in the interest of Slovak people, asking that the invitation be withdrawn.

The reasons assigned in the memorial, copies of which were forwarded to Theodore Roosevelt and Andrew Carnegie, are briefly that the count is representative of Hungarian governmental tyranny, and as minister of education, "led the opposition of Slovaks in that kingdom."

NORMAL PROTEST.

The memorial says: "We, the editors of the Slovak press and the editors of the Slovak press, as the representatives of Chicago citizens of Slovak origin, while approving the plan to celebrate the memory of George Washington by a month's meetings at which all citizens of foreign birth are to be invited, deem it our duty as liberty-loving citizens to object to the presence of Count Albert G. Apponyi at that meeting."

"Our protest is based on the following facts: Count Apponyi, as minister of education, was responsible for the uprisings at Cernovitz, where so many Slovak peasants died innocently. His report in the Hungarian parliament made after the massacre, that there is peace in that village, rather en-notified today by Federal officers in this section of the arrest near Somerset, N. Y., of Joseph Coffey and Thomas Bell, believed to be members of a gang of counterfeiters who have been issuing spurious money from a retreat in the mountains of Southern Kentucky.

According to reports from Somerset, mounds for coins were found in an apparently abandoned house, and evidences that paper money had been manufactured were discovered also. Information that reaches here is that the gang has operated extensively in Kentucky and adjoining states since the capture of the two men may soon lead to other arrests.

NEW YORK STILL MYSTIFIED OVER MISSING GIRL.

Attorney for Family Denies Emphatically That Any Clue Has Developed as to Whereabouts of Helene—Sister Declares She Is Still Wholly in Dark.

(Associated Press Night Report.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The search for Miss Dorothy Arnold developed a plentiful crop of rumors today, several of which were to the effect that the mystery of her disappearance had been solved and that she had been located in this city. One report had it that she was at home, while another insisted that she was a patient in Flower Hospital, where her cousin, Dr. Benjamin Arnold, is an intern.

Both reports were apparently without foundation. Miss Marjorie Arnold, sister of the missing girl, denied emphatically that her sister had been found and was known to be in or near New York. The Flower Hospital authorities issued the following statement:

"We desire to state that not only Miss Arnold is not a patient here, but that she has never been a patient under her own name or any other name."

A member of the firm of Garvan and Armstrong, the Arnold family lawyers, said the reports that Miss Arnold had been found and was back in her home or with friends are absurd.

"The introduction of the rumor into the case has only served to confuse it with irrelevant elements to keep up interest in the matter from day to day without shedding a bit of light on it."

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Feb. 15.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Samuel L. Brown was cloistered with the prisoner during the greater part of the day. Another man who was expected to arrive at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon failed to appear. It is believed the officers are holding information until he arrives.

(Associated Press Night Report.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The House adopted today an amendment to the Moon bill for the codification of laws relating to the judiciary, increasing the salary of the Chief Justice of the United States from $12,000 to $15,000 and the salaries of associate justices from $12,500 to $14,500 a year.

The fate of the bill, as a whole, however, is in some doubt. It had been the hope of Mr. Moon that it might be passed today, but the absence of a quorum in the late afternoon brought about an unexpected early adjournment.

This was the last day that the bill had the right of way. The House calendar is choked with various measures and there is no appropriation bills yet to be taken up in the lower house and sent to the Senate. A bill similar to the Moon bill has passed the House.

was injured during the engagement. It was also reported that an insurgent leader was wounded. Leguia and Berthold are reported unharmed.

One of the insurgent wounded is Frank Gilbert, 15 years old, whose parents reside at San Gabriel or Alhambra, in California. He went to Los Angeles several months ago and joined the insurgents.

As the Federals came without visible supplies it is believed that many of the soldiers will go hungry.

Tonight both sides appear to be awaiting some move on the part of the other.

DELAYED DISPATCHES IN FROM CHIHUAHUA.

(Associated Press Day Report.) EL PASO (Tex.) Feb. 15.—Mail advices to the Herald from Chihuahua, dated February 12, say fifty rebels rode into San Andres, fifty miles west of Chihuahua, Saturday, and took charge of the town. They carried extra arms to fifty additional men, and gained many recruits.

The same advices say 125 rebels reached Madera on Saturday to meet 300 Pima Indians and Mexicans from Sonora, in order to move on Chihuahua. Capt. Canabarro reached Guerrero the same day with 250 men to await the coming of the Madera command.

Passengers reaching Chihuahua from Coyame, northeast of there, report that on Saturday night the city was in the hands of more than 200 armed insurgents under command of Gen. Muniz, awaiting advices from Pascual Orozco to join him, while near Paso del Norte, Benito Cabecillas and Felipe Gomez were gathering a number of insurgents.

Railroad men reaching Chihuahua from La Junta reported at least 1000 armed insurgents between the two points, their objective point being Chihuahua, the State capital. Mining men say that if the country is not cleared soon nearly every mine in western Chihuahua will have to close down.

Confirmatory news reaches Chihuahua, according to the Herald correspondent, of the capture of the nephew of Gen. Torres in Sonora, near Tonichi. The letters confirming the capture were received by Francis Saguyo and Es-Sonora insurgents also had captured a Cuban Hijonoso, and stated that the 500 Mauser rifle and much ammunition. Francisco Robles has been moved as jefe politico of Aldama, and Emilio de la Cruz as jefe politico of Liborio Seljas appointed to the position.

Gov. Ahumada made the change on complaint of the people of the district.

VEGA REPORTED ON WAY TO ENSENADA.

(Associated Press Night Report.)

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 15.—A special from Campo tonight says that Gov. Vega with 125 men, forty of whom are Alamo Indians, left camp near Joapa yesterday and is headed toward Ensenada under forced marching orders. A force of twenty-six men and officers was left near Joapa to guard the Pichos Pass, near which a rebel force is supposed to be entrenched. This information was brought to Campo by a special courier.

The report that a part of the insurgent force is headed for Ensenada is further confirmed by reports to retrace his steps and hasten to the mentioned seaport. The distance to Ensenada is about eighty miles and the Federals expect to cover it in three days.

When the courier left the Joapa camp the five rebel scouts recently captured by the Federals still were there unharmed.

ENSENADA ALARMED WITH VEGA ABSENT.

(Associated Press Day Report.)

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 15.—The steamer San Diego, which arrived from Ensenada yesterday, brings reports that much alarm has prevailed there since Governor Vega marched away with the greatest part of the garrison.

There are now only sixty soldiers at Ensenada and nearly half of them are sick. Disquieting rumors prevail. One that was current when the San Diego left was that a body of rebels has got to Ensenada and are waiting for the force and Ensenada. Several of the wealthier residents came up on the steamer rather than take chances in the city.

JUAREZ NOW RESTING UNDER MARITAL LAW.

(Associated Press Night Report.)

EL PASO (Tex.) Feb. 15.—Gen. Navarro placed Ciudad Juarez under martial law today, closing every business house, including the saloons and keno game, and putting the city under the complete control of the army.

He also took possession of the Mexico Northwestern Railway and announced he intended to operate the roads out of Juarez for a few days.

Four express wagons, loaded with arms and ammunition, were captured today by United States troops, while attempting to cross the river near Fallens, east of this city. Eight Mexicans and two Americans accompanying the wagons were arrested. The Mexicans were brought to El Paso and jailed on charges of violating the neutrality law. The Americans escaped.

MEAMES SWEEPS COURT.

(Associated Press Day Report.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 15.—Practically all of the children of the Imperial court are victims of an epidemic of measles and the entire blame for the situation is placed upon the Grand Duchess Olga, who contracted the disease from her sister, the Grand Duchess Anastasia, and indirectly wrote of her plight to the little daughter of the Grand Duke George. The latter kissed the letter, as did all the courtiers who handled it, according to custom. They in turn, kissed their children, and all were stricken.

The treatment is simple, thorough and comprehensive. Leading druggists obtain the main ingredients, extracts and essences in one-ounce bottles, ready to mix. Three or four ounces of the parilla compound, mix with one ounce compound mild hairwater, and stand two hours. Add one ounce of essence cardiol, and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom). Shake well. Use as follows: Apply after each meal and one at bedtime.

The ingredients are used for various prescriptions.

AN OLD-TIME PRESCRIPTION

In a modern period, French time immemorial sage and sulfur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost everyone knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair and making it grow. An old-time tin the only way to grow a hair tonic this was to use it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory.

To darken the hair, make a good strong ointment as for drinking, straining it to be as thick as a healing preparation of antiseptic and peroxide. Dampen the hair daily. You do this, you will soon be gratified with the results.

John L.: The intense itching of the scalp and other portions of the body should be treated locally with plain yellow mineral. The itching is due to poor circulation and needs a stimulating tonic, of which the following is adapted: Comp. syrup of hypophosphites.

Sadie M.: Candidly, I think you are impatient and unreasonable. You should be patient. In one or two weeks. Continue taking 3 grains hypo-nuclease tablets for a period of 6 to 8 weeks, and your gain should be rapid. The other prescription is also valid. Your trouble is chronic indigestion and torpid liver. See answer to Mrs. K. M.

C. W. H.: Says he suffered with nervous prostration 3 years ago and has never recovered. Lately his symptoms are extremely distressing. He is weak, tired, worn out, nervous, timid, irritable, and has no confidence in himself. He cannot do any kind of work or exertion or anything naturally under all circumstances as others do. The least exertion tires, and the limbs and body are often numb or aching. He has

The Territorial Grand Lodges of Masonry are in session in Tucson this week, with about 200 attendants from other cities of Arizona. Elaborate plans for entertainment have been made by the local lodges, and the principal streets are decorated with bunting.

A fine Marconi wireless station is to be installed at the Territorial University by Prof. A. E. Douglass, in charge of the department of physics and acting president. A similar apparatus is to be added to the equipment of the Douglass High High School.

Four thousand head of range stags were bought in Tucson this week at the rate of $25 a head from William Speed of Cochise county. The purchaser was P. Robinson of El Paso.

The deal, involving $100,000, was the largest individual transaction of the kind known this season in southern Arizona.

J. G. Hilsinger, who died Saturday night in Los Angeles, came to Tucson in 1880 and left here only last week for the coast, hoping that the chance would benefit him. During his residence in Tucson he was generally connected with L. Zeckendorf & Company, though for a few years he was president of a bank in El Paso. He was 61 years old, married, and is survived KILLS HIS WIFE, TELLS AN OFFICER NEXT DAY.

Well-to-Do Lankershim Ranchman Shoots Down His Helpmate, Paces the Floor and Drinks All Night, and Then Gives Himself Up—Wife's Dead Woman's Brother to Come and Help Him Out of Trouble.

C. F. Reynolds and His Wife.
Mrs. Reynolds was shot to death by her husband in their home near Lankershim Tuesday evening, and yesterday he notified the authorities. Reynolds, a wealthy ranchman, said she attacked him with a knife during a quarrel.

REYNOLDS, an apparently wealthy ranchman who lives on a 100-acre farm a mile and half northwest of Lankershim, had a quarrel with his wife at 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and shot her twice with a revolver, killing her instantly. Reynolds paced the floors of his home all night, meditating on his deed and drinking heavily, and yesterday morning at 10 o'clock he went to Hollywood and gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff Weddington.

The cause of the quarrel and consequent killing is a mystery. All that Reynolds can be induced to say on the subject is that he and his wife had "been having a hell of a time for a long while."

The place where the couple lived, though small, shows every evidence of refinement and luxury. It is a five-room bungalow, handsomely furnished. On the inside there are evidences of a terrible struggle. The chairs are upset, knives and forks are scattered, books are lying all about, and there are pieces of broken glassware on the floor.

Mrs. Reynolds was a good-looking woman, 45 years old. She was formerly Miss Lou Heringer of Nevada City, where she was married to Reynolds eighteen years ago. Reynolds is 48. They have been living at the ranch near Lankershim six or seven years. "There are no near neighbors and no one heard the shot fired. A few weeks ago, Reynolds told the Sheriff, he went to one of the ranches nearby with his head bleeding from wounds inflicted by his wife in a quarrel.

WIFE'S WIFE'S BROTHER.
Mrs. Reynolds has a brother, Walter Heringer, an attorney, living at Redding, to whom Reynolds sent this message, after he was taken to the County Jail by the Sheriff: "Drop all business and come at once. Am in great trouble."

The Sheriff was first notified of the crime at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. He received the communication from his deputy at Hollywood. The Sheriff immediately went to Hollywood, found and where are they?" the Sheriff asked him. "I don't care to mention them," he replied. "What has been the nature of the trouble between yourself and your wife?" "I don't care to talk about that. I won't say what the trouble grew out of. I won't talk about it at all." Reynolds said he is a member of Southern California Lodge No. 218, F. & A. M.

The body of Mrs. Reynolds was removed to Hollywood, where it will be held until her brother is heard from. The Sheriff assigned Deputy Barton to watch the Reynolds house to protect the property in it.

FINDS HE'S NOT CAPTAIN.
Detective Browne fails to identify the suspect held in Oklahoma as one of the Dynamiters.

Detective Browne of the District Attorney's office yesterday failed to identify the suspect held in jail at Idaho, Okla., as David Caplan, one of the trio which dynamited the Times Building.

The officer telegraphed his chief yesterday that he is convinced almost beyond a reasonable doubt the prisoner is not the man he was thought to be.

The prisoner will be held for several days until Browne can make a thorough investigation of his past record. It may develop, as it has in the case of others who were arrested on suspicion of having been connected with the catastrophe, that he is wanted for some other offense. His actions have been such as to lead the authorities to believe that he is something which he desires to conceal.

SUNDAY-CLOSING PETITION.
Ministers Present One Bearing More Than Twenty-five Thousand Signatures to the Postmaster.

A delegation composed mostly of ministers, yesterday presented to the Postmaster a petition that the office be closed, so far as the delivery of mail is concerned, on Sunday. The petition bears 25,479 names.

Among those who called on the postal official are Dr. Locke, Bishop Bell, Dr. Day and Pierce. They expressed views favoring an arrangement which will give the postoffice employees more leisure.

Harrison told them that he will give deep consideration to the proposal, and confer with those who are higher than he in the service. He informed them that it is not the attitude of the Postoffice Department to require more work on Sunday than is necessary to prevent congestion of the mail.

ENGLISH LORD IN FIRST GAME.
TWENTYMOUTH AND PARTY ARRIVE FOR TOURNAMENT.

Valets and Mountain of Luggage Accompany Crack Titled Player Who Learned in India and Has Hidden in South Africa and England—With British Team Today.

The lobby of the Alexandria resembled the foyer of a country club last night, when Lord Twentymouth, Walter Dupe, Cheever Codwin, Harry Harkness, H. H. Holmes and Capt. J. C. Beasley of Coronado, arrived, en route to Riverside, where they will participate in the polo tournament, which will begin there today. They were accompanied by a retinue of valets and servants and a small mountain of luggage.

In the train of the wealthy young sportsman were a half dozen well-known men, prominent socially in Los Angeles and Coronado.

Lord Innes-Kerr, who has been accompanying Lord Twentymouth on his tour of America, did not come to Los Angeles, remaining with Lady Innes-Kerr and Lady Twentymouth at Coronado.

Lord Twentymouth will play on the English team at Riverside, and this will be his first game in America. He is a famous polo player and noted for his hand riding. He learned the game at his birthplace in India, and rode with some of the crack teams of that country. He also rode in South Africa and in England.

Harry S. Karkness, who is a member of the party, is well known in California as an amateur aviator. He brought with him three Antoinette monoplane, which he successfully tried out at San Diego. He said that he planned to make several flights in a week or so and would take some of the society's folk of Coronado for a ride with him.

Harkness is having two more Antoinette monoplane sent him from Paris, and it is believed that they are for two prominent members of the party, who desire to remain in the background until they have learned the art of flying. Harkness stated last night that he had as many flying machines as he desired, but refused to say for whom he had purchased the two big Antoinette machines now en route here.

He stated last night that he might undertake to fly from San Diego to Los Angeles if he found time. He says that it is perfectly feasible, as the air currents are favorable for such a flight. He has already flown into Mexico from San Diego and is perfectly familiar with his big machines.

MAN AND CASH GO TOGETHER?
Seattle Postoffice Foreman Locked Up Here.

Alleged to Have Embezzled From the Mails.
Says He Lost All He Had in Gambling.

Departing seven months ago from Seattle to go to Baltimore to be married, robbed of all of his money in the gambling dens of San Francisco, and at last forced to apply to the local postoffice for work in order that he might not starve, Kester W. Cabler was arrested yesterday on a charge of embezzlement.

The prisoner was formerly night foreman of the Seattle postoffice, and is alleged to have extracted from the mail $1500 which had been consigned to an eastern bank.

Cabler disappeared from Seattle last July, on the same morning the money was stolen. He informed the authorities that he was going back to marry an old sweetheart, and left with the good wishes of his fellow employees. To some of his friends he confided that he had an inborn thirst for gambling, and that he was going to stop in San Francisco to try his luck.

The theft was not discovered until sometime after the foreman left the office. The registered package which had contained the currency was replaced with an empty tobacco box, which bore a fictitious address. The return address was also "phony."

When an effort was made to return the package, the postoffice discovered that something was wrong.

Meantime the National Bank of Commerce of Seattle, which had consigned the money to the Chase National Bank of New York, began to make inquiries.

GONE ABOUT SAME TIME.
Suspicion immediately fell upon Cabler, as he left the northern city a few hours after the theft was committed. The officials decided that the theft had been planned for sometime on account of the dummy package which was prepared.

Cabler had an excellent opportunity to take the money on account of the position he occupied. He was trusted and aroused no suspicion when he made investigations as to the matter going through the mails.

All the postoffice officials throughout the country were interested in searching for him. Baltimore was continually watched for his appearance, but no one answering his description was found. All trace of him was lost until he applied at the local postoffice about two weeks ago for employment.

He informed the officials that he had once worked in the Seattle office, probably thinking that his former record would not be looked up.

The Seattle officials were asked about his work there. Inspector Wayland immediately left for this city. He half expected that there was a case of mistaken identity. Meantime the inspectors here were requested to watch the suspect.

Wayland completed the identification upon his arrival, and with Inspector Cellar yesterday, took Cabler in custody. The prisoner made no effort to hide his identity. However, he declares he did not rob the mail.

MONEY IN FARO BANK.
According to his story, he has always been fascinated by faro bank and he stopped at San Francisco to play with chance. He declares that he was stripped of every cent he had. However, he says since then he has been wandering, working at whatever he could pick up. He was almost at the end of his string when he determined to try to get in the postoffice, realizing that he was

Mrs. N. James Cordary, formerly Miss Florence L. Provard, who was married on less than two hours' notice Tuesday morning.

NO WAITING FOR THEM.
Young Man and Woman Who Meet at Shrine's Ball Marry Suddenly, Leaving Friends to Explain.

Miss Florence L. Provard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Provard of No. 1216 Westlake avenue, became the wife of N. James Cordary, a broker and oil operator, on Tuesday morning.

The wedding was planned at about 9 o'clock in the morning, and after a rush all around the ceremony was performed in St. Vincent's paragon by Rev. Joseph Glara. They left all of the explaining in the hands of two friends who informed the parents of both parties.

In the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Cordary went to San Pedro just in time to catch a steamer for San Francisco. The young people met at the Shrine's ball this year. Both had affections in a different direction, but it was not long before they were sweethearts. No formal announcement of their engagement had been made, but it was understood by their respective families that they were to be married in the spring.

Mrs. Cordary is widely known not only in this city but in San Francisco, where she lived six years. She is a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy of Santa Clara. N. James Cordary came to Los Angeles about three years ago from Detroit. He organized the Doty-Cordary Investment Company.

NO USE FOR BOAT STREETS.
Movement to Close Seaside Thoroughfares Navigable That Way Only and Save County Expense.

Finding that streets which are navigable only in boats are of little use to the county, the owners of tracts lying west and east of Naples have petitioned the Board of Supervisors to close them up and permit the title to the underlying land to revert to the former owners.

When the tracts were laid out it was expected that they would be filled in, and that the streets would be essential. They were laid out on paper and never were given any more substantial existence.

The building enterprise concentrated in the center and produced what is now Naples. Meantime the county had records of streets which were inundated most of the time and were traversed only by the tide.

If the Supervisors will vacate the streets, the lots will be thrown into one large tract. The Assessor and the Tax Collector would welcome such a change, as there are thousands of lots, practically valueless in their present condition, which must be separately assessed and taxed. The county now pays more for clerical time in keeping the records correct than it receives in taxation from the property.

The officials took the petition under advisement in order to give them an opportunity to ascertain the exact condition of affairs.

INCOMPETENT AND INEFFICIENT assistants jeopardize the success of your business.

Capable salesmen, office help, technical men, and high-grade commercial and domestic employees can be obtained through the medium of Times "Liners."

The "Help" and "Situations Wanted" columns of The Times offer business men splendid opportunities to increase the efficiency of their working organizations, and they open the way to remunerative employment to persons in search of positions.

Month after month, year in and year out, The Times prints more advertising than any other paper in the world.

For the week ending February 12th, The Times printed 2117 more "Liners" than the aggregate of all other Los Angeles newspapers combined, and 6269 more than its nearest local competitor.

The total number of "Liners" published by The Times for the seven days from February 6th to February 12th, inclusive, was 14,934. The prize of Five Dollars in Gold has been awarded to Mrs. C. A. Danielson, 843 West 27th Place, city, whose estimate of 14,933 was the first nearest correct estimate received in last week's contest. The winning of two "Liner" prizes renders Mrs. Danielson ineligible to participate in this week's contest, which will be the last of the present series.

One week ago today The Times printed 1641 agate "Liners." On the same day its nearest local competitor printed only 910 agate "Liners."

FIVE DOLLARS IN GOLD GIVEN AWAY
On Tuesday, February 21, a prize of Five Dollars in gold will be awarded to the person making the first nearest correct estimate of the total number of "Liner" advertisements published in The Times during the seven days from Monday, February 13, until Sunday, February 19, inclusive.

Estimates should not be made until after the publication of The Times on the last day of the week for which the contest is held, and they must be delivered before 10 a.m. the following Tuesday. The name of the prize winner will be published next Wednesday. This contest is not open to employees of The Times-Mirror Company, and this company's advertisements should not be counted.

All letters should be addressed to the Contest Editor, and each will be numbered in the order of its receipt in the office, 531-535 South Spring street.

the five "80-cent gas" cities is one, the average in ten American cities is $1.11 1/2 per 1000 feet of gas.
The rate of 80 cents is the lowest in the metropolis. When that price was conferred on the inhabitants of Los Angeles for over four years through the action of the Los Angeles Gas Corporation. The same action was taken in Boston, Milwaukee and Detroit, the second city of the United States, a 95-cent rate was established.
China, ranking next to Chicago, has a $1 rate, and it is considered that San Francisco is the only other city of large size.

LOS ANGELES (Loce Ahng-hayl-ais.)

Entered at the Postoffice as mail matter of Class II.

A STONE WALL.
The labor unions have started a few feeble and ineffectual strikes on the aqueduct work. Agitators from Chicago came here to stir up the trouble. The dynamiters may be able at times to harass individual contractors, but when they go up against big government works they are butting their heads against a stone wall. They are attacking the whole people.

PING-PONG-OR?
A womanathletic instructor, writing in the Times daily "Pink," urged the need of a universal game for girls.

The suggestions that nature came to mind are for something mild and lady-like, such as ping-pong or shuffle board; but perhaps, after all, it would be well to wait until women get the ballot. The game that is sought for may turn out to be duelling or prize fighting.

OUR GOOD ROADS.
The "pink tours" which are appearing as suggestions to automobilists in the sporting section of the Times bring out the wonderful opportunities of Southern California as a playground.

You can motor through country that looks for all the world like New England; you can ride along the pounding surf; into the vastness of the desert, on the rims of mountains, through the thick of a city's traffic and never get off the good-roads system.

THROUPE AHEAD.
When John D. Works opens his mouth he always puts his foot into it. The feat is not original, but it is troublesome. His last exhibition was to give out an interview in which he said that women should remain at home taking care of their families instead of gadding about after clubs. We think we see the finish of John D. The Goo-Goo gang may not get him for his position about the breed and the judiciary, but in the eyes of the "coming" women he is a heretic and they will have his scalp.

NATURAL GAS.
The value of the natural gas produced in the United States in 1910 is carefully estimated by the Geological Survey and the Bureau of the Census at $57,000,000, an increase of about $3,000,000 over 1909. During 1910 a feature of great interest was the development of what promises to be a very large supply of natural gas in the Buena Vista Hills, Kern county, California, east of the Sunset McKittrick oil field. Arrangements were made, and practically completed during the year for piping this gas to Bakersfield and other towns in the San Joaquin Valley.

Los Angeles next! Sure!

ENCOURAGING CRIME.
Socialism and disregard of property rights are stepping-stones to anarchy—to dynamiting, incendiarism and assassination. An editor in one of the American border towns refers to the bandits and looters led by "red" lawbreakers of the same merit as George Washington and his companions. This is almost sacrilegious. What have these "patriots" done? They have stolen horses, destroyed a public building, robbed and pillaged, and now threaten to burn or blow up the property of Americans and murder those in charge. The "patriots" they are after are the right to take what does not belong to them and to live without work. And those who say "they" to them are as bad as they are.

LANDS.
The recent passage by the national House of Representatives of Congressman Smith's oil and salt bill, designed to do justice to persons operating in good faith on government lands, has had a good effect on the industry in this State. There is every probability that the measure will pass the Senate and be signed by the President, thereby becoming a law. The bill recognizes that prospectors who followed the custom of the California mining camps, supplemented by State Supreme Court decisions, in the effort to discover oil prior to the President's withdrawal order, secured a bona fide interest in the land and had a legal right to transfer that interest to others. In cases where this has been done and patent has been denied to the present holders by the Land Department under the Smith bill, relief will be afforded by the Smith bill. Hundreds of claims are affected, the value of which amounts into the millions. There is every prospect now that a fresh impetus will be given to oil development in California.

SOLICITING FOR STRIKE FUND.
The labor union agitators have discontinued for the present their bullying, boycotting, picketing, assaulting, assassinating tactics and are now resorting to beggary and the obtaining of money under false pretenses. They are making a shop-to-shop and house-to-house canvass in Los Angeles and adjacent towns, begging for money for alleged women garment sewers, starving shirt waist makers and laundry workers.

Those who may be imposed upon may feel sure that the solicitors will misappropriate and misapply $1 out of every $5 they may extract from the sympathy of their victims. So much of the money contributed as shall not be expended for liquor and as shall not go to gratify will go into a fund to be used for the purpose of organizing a general labor strike here on the first of May. That is to say, all unfortunates, whether or without grievances, are to be persuaded to quit their jobs out of "sympathy." Such a strike will be no benefit to anybody except the pawnbrokers and the furniture auctioneers.

Every person who is solicited to contribute to a fund by these loafers will serve the cause of industrial freedom by saying "no," and, in case the collector continues his solicitations or is otherwise insolent or meddlesome, let the police be telephoned for. The eight-hour agitation is a part of the same strike programme.

IRRIGATION IN ARIZONA.
Irrigation is an incident in the agriculture of the Eastern States. It is an important factor in the agriculture of California, but it is the very life of the farmers who struggle with arid acres east of the Colorado River. Dry ranching has been successful in many localities in California, but it has bankrupted nearly everybody who attempted it in Arizona except those who raised crops of Arizona goals.

Arizona farmers can do nothing without irrigating ditches and an abundant water supply, but with them they are rapidly developing what will at no distant day prove to be a prosperous and beautiful State. As much water now flows to the ocean through the channel of the Colorado River as runs in all the streams of California south of the Tehachapi range of mountains.

Arizona has violent summer rains such as are unknown in California at that season of the year. These go down to the sea in sudden and hitherto unused torrents. But the Roosevelt dam has impounded the waters of the Gila and the Salt River; another work conserves the waters of the Verde; still another utilizes the waters of the Colorado River near Yuma, and a great dam and aqueduct are projected above Parker.

It is estimated that there are in Arizona more than 5,000,000 acres rich in plant food to which the rainfall of the Arizona mountains can be profitably carried. Unlike Nevada and Utah and some portions of California, Arizona is substantially without water sinks. Nearly all the water that falls there is carried to the Colorado River by its various tributaries and thence to the Gulf of California. As the mineral salts are leached from the soil in one field, they are not deposited upon the surface of another to plague its cultivator, but are transported by the law of gravity to the distant ocean.

The wasted features which are the result of fever and ague are seldom seen in Arizona, for as soon as the malarial germ is engendered, the policeman, whose name is Gravitation, seizes the disease-breeder and hurries it out to sea to feed the fishes.

One of the peculiar advantages of the Salt River Valley is that the farmer is put to no cost to level his land and prepare it for irrigation. A prehistoric race, the vestiges of whose villages and aqueducts are still visible, performed the labor of grading the fields, and performed it well. In surveying the route of the grand canal constructed years ago the engineers could find no better grade than that indicated by the ruins of an old Aztec aqueduct.

Good work has been done of late years in the education of eastern public opinion to the importance of adding to the value of the national domain by large and comprehensive systems of storage reservoirs, constructed by the Federal government, or with its aid and under its direction.

The substitution of the law of prior beneficial appropriation for that of common law riparianism has been of incalculable advantage to California and will prove of even greater advantage to Arizona. The law, generally, is not so exacting, or retrogressive, science, is not so progressive, a one as might be wished. It sometimes blocks the road of progress with the litter and rubbish of precedents that ought to be hauled away to feed the bonfires. One of the difficulties with which the irrigating farmers of California had to contend was the unsuitableness of the common-law rule concerning riparian rights to the conditions of climate and rainfall existing in this State. Those difficulties were finally overcome by legislation. All persons who wish well to Arizona will hope that she will soon emerge from Territorial pupillage so that she can promulgate water laws without danger of their being repealed by Congressional enactment.

A TRAVELING CORPORATION.
On the last day of December last there was organized under the laws of the State of Delaware the United Properties Company of California, with a capital stock of $200,000,000. This was done to effect a merger of all the public utility companies of Oakland and Berkeley under one ownership, the purpose being to enable the United Properties Company to transfer to the Federal courts for trial all actions involving over $2000 which might be brought against it.

As the Federal judges cannot be "recalled," and as they are independent of local influences, a corporation is tempted to change its citizenship so as to enable it to transfer into a Federal court any controversies in which it may be involved. The purpose of the grant of jurisdiction given in the Federal Constitution to Federal courts in controversies between citizens of different States was doubtless to guard against the favoritism which the judges of State courts might bestow upon their own citizens.

Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States have said that "the framers of the Constitution probably had no thought that the provision would extend to corporations as citizens," yet the Supreme Court said in the celebrated slaughterhouse case that, under the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, corporations are citizens of the State of their creation.

It does not seem to be quite the thing that a corporation owning $200,000,000 worth of property in California, and not transacting business anywhere except in the State of California, should be able, by having one dummy director who resides in Delaware and an office in the back room of the second story of a building in a Delaware village, or rather a sign on the door of such an office, with the door perpetually locked, should be able to obtain any advantage, however slight, over a citizen of the State where all its property is and where all its business is conducted.

When the plaintiff in a divorce case moved to North Dakota for no other purpose than to gain a residence there and obtain a decree that she could not obtain at home, it was held by both State and Federal courts that her action was a fraud upon the jurisdiction, and a decree of divorce obtained by such means was adjudged invalid. It does not appear that there is any difference in principle between the action of one of Nat Goodwin's spouses in taking a divorce suit into a Nevada town where she never lived and the action of the United Properties Company of California in incorporating in Delaware where it never had any properties and where none of its officers or agents ever abided for one hour.

AMENDING BRITISH CONSTITUTION
Great Britain is preparing to amend her constitution, or rather to substitute a written constitution for the mass of customs, judicial decisions and acts of Parliament which constitute what is now called the British constitution. Earl Grey, the present Governor-General of Canada, is the most prominent advocate of the plan to reorganize the parliamentary system of Great Britain on a Federal basis. It is proposed to accord a local Legislature to each of the four subdivisions of the British empire—England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales—with powers analogous to those possessed by American States, and to retain the Imperial Parliament, with powers similar to those possessed by our Congress, while Australia, Canada and other British colonies will continue to be governed as now. The essential difference between the new British constitution and our Federal organic law will doubtless be that, while the States, under our Constitution, retain all powers not especially delegated to the Federal government, in Great Britain the Imperial Parliament would retain all powers not specially bestowed upon the States, while the central Parliament would reserve the right to veto laws passed by the local Legislatures.

It is to be hoped that this plan for reorganizing the government of the British empire will not come to grief by reason of a copy of Frank Henry's speech, attacking the Constitution of the United States, and the coward and tyrant who framed it, being reprinted in the London Times, and thereby accorded that influence which the high character and lofty statesmanship of its author will naturally command throughout the length and breadth of the British empire.

SHALL THE FAIR BE RUINED?
The local organ of Tietmoe, Gallagher and McCarthy announces officially that organized labor, meaning thereby the closed shop gang, will make a fight to control the Panama Canal Exposition and prevent any work being done on the buildings or grounds except by members of the San Francisco labor unions. The fight will be made by opposing any legislation to prevent discrimination between union and non-union workers by the commissioners in charge of the exposition. It will be urged that Gov. Johnson and the four commissioners whom he will appoint can be "trusted" to establish fair and proper rules and regulations governing the employment of labor, and that to enact a law to place organized and unorganized labor on an equal basis would be an insult to organized labor which the closed-shoppers will not tolerate. The labor leaders further object to the enactment of an arbitration law similar to the Canadian labor law, on the ground that it would "deprive them of the power to precipitate a sudden strike which they regard as one of their most effective weapons."

Unless Gov. Johnson shall have the honesty and the courage to bid Tietmoe, Gallagher and McCarthy to seek the society of their father, the devil, the Panama Exposition will be crippled, if not ruined, for lack of funds, for the men who have subscribed $7,500,000 will not pay their subscriptions if industrial slavery is to prevail in the management of the Panama fair.

There is no possible excuse for the proposed action of organized labor. There is work for thousands of mechanics in connection with the fair for the next four or five years; and to suffer non-union men to be excluded from employment would be an outrage so unbecoming that it would impair the chances of the success of the exposition in more ways than the withdrawal or failure to pay the $7,500,000 subscription. The Japanese, the Chinese and the East Indians, for instance, will each propose to erect a building in the fair grounds in which to exhibit the products of their countries. Will the exhibitors be content to be excluded from the fair grounds and to have their buildings constructed without one of their race being permitted to aid in its construction, or handle or unpack their own exhibits? Will the Jewellers of Switzerland, and the velvet and silk manufacturers of France, and the makers of fine goods in Germany, Italy and England be content to have their rare exhibits unpacked and handled by some of McCarthy's constituents from Tar Flat who don't know plate glass or Sevres china from delft ware, or a Dresden $100 clock from an Ingersoll $1 watch?

Without further illustrations, it is sufficient to say that for the San Francisco labor leaders to dominate the fair would mean utter and irretrievable ruin to its success.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher.

King Midas lived in days of old; what'er he touched would turn to gold. The sandwich and the pumpkin pie, the song, cold pint of extra dry, all kinds of things whereon he'd feed, the paper that he tried to read, the dachshund and the thomas cat, his stogies and his Sunday hat, all turned to good old virgin gold, and yet the monarch's feet were cold. "Ods death," quoth he, "this makes me tired; I have more gold than I desire; I find that gold's a false alarm, and if some spirit would lift the charm, that's loading me with yellow bars, I'd gladly pass around cigars." And there are moderns longing much and greatly for the Midas touch; they'd like to see what'er they hold turn into bars of yellow gold, and fill their collar bins with dross, and count their millions by the gross. Yet all the age-long records show that wealth but multiplies one's woe; the more you have, the more you fret, and scheme and plan some more to get; you cease to sleep, forget to eat, and pace the floor on frantic feet, to knock the Midas record cold, and pile up forty cords of gold. I have some cake and pie and bread, I have a roof above my head, I have a good easy chair, some books to read, some clothes to wear, and sundry roubles put away to help out on a rainy day, a pair of slippers by the fire, and nothing more do I desire.

WALT MASON.
[Copyright, 1911, by George Matthews Adams.]

Chief Justice White.
The new Chief Justice was for many years on the Supreme Bench of Louisiana, and for several years he was in the United States Senate. He was 65 years old in November. On March 12 he will have been a member of the Supreme Court at Washington for seventeen years. He is large of physique and large of brain and heart with such talent for the expounding of our constitution and laws, and such gift of clear and keen analysis, that he may well help us to keep from losing faith in the value of our most distinctive political institution. For undoubtedly there is nothing so distinctive in our system as the Supreme Court, and the authority we repose in the men who constitute this high tribunal could only be justified by intelligence, wisdom and character on their part. Happily, the Supreme Court has justified itself through the whole course of our 130 years of constitutional experience. The questions it has to answer are fraught with great consequences; and many of them in the past have been decided by a bare majority of one vote in a tribunal of nine. Yet, for working purposes, the country has nearly always accepted in perfect good faith the majority opinion, even when that of the minority might have seemed equally wise; and there has been surprisingly little harsh assault in all our history upon either the good faith or the intelligence of the court.

He Will Wear Belts.
The poor boy for the country who keeps his hands and face clean and his cuffs trimmed and who is foxy enough to get acquainted with the female relatives of his employer will sooner or later land in division number one and wear belts.—[George Ade.]

The Gallipoli Reporter.
W. R. Holt, the gallipoli reporter from London, described neatly at the New York Press Club the essentials of good reporting. "A good reporter," he said, "should be able to handle a man as an astronomer handles a telescope—that is, he should be able to draw him out, see through him and shut him up."

"Life size?" inquired the artist.
"Catalogue size," responded the seedman with a significant smile.—[Courier-Journal.]

A PASADENA IDYL.

BY HARRY F. BOWLING.
The rain has ceased. A California sun—February by dead reckoning, June but for the calendar—is making a golden afternoon for the lotus lovers of Pasadena. Evidently these are many, as why should they not be?—when the restful Southland is full of over-worked rest-seekers who have just earned the lotus of repose. Evidently also these are happy—and all the world with them—judging from the bright faces seen upon the benches, among the trees or along the expansive green lawns, or in shady rose-towered retreats, which compose this beautiful Central Park. For it is Wednesday, and the band is playing; soft music and sunshine and subdued merriment and warmth and blossoming trees and flowers and white dresses and two-piece suits; and in the East, fur-lined February in frigid earnest.

Surely this is the real forest of Arden which one William Shakespeare visioned prophetically. Half close your eyes, and Orlando is pinning his verses to the trunk of yonder giant gum tree; among the cypresses with measured tread strolls the melancholy Jacques; up and down the green award in the open the banished Duke discourses philosophically; and see in doublet and hose of Lincoln green the bewitching Rosalind herself—but no, a blue-coated policeman destroys the illusion and declares doublet and hose are forbidden by city ordinance, and only the hobble skirt is lawful. Perhaps it was the dreamy waltz music which started the imagery, or the ever-lastingly romantic hue which colors California skies and Californian scenery.

Yet, there is enough of present poetry in the scene, without summoning up the fancies of old-world singers. Watch the children romping and rolling on the lawn, and the playful collie barking harmlessly at their heels. Take care, children! over his fat trombone the fat musician is glaring at the distracting racket; please silence that dog! to our trained ears it flat and C sharp major is distressing discord, and were we not awarded the city contract, as being the best trained band on the Pacific Coast? Ah, yes! but forty years from now perfect hands will be distilling more perfect music in these most perfect scenes of enchantment; but their romps and revels, as children of that hour, will be only distant memories to careworn, earnest, world-battered—perhaps stained, men and women; let the children enjoy their time of innocence and folly, all too brief! along with the butterfly and humming-bird, the opening rose-bud, the drop of morning dew. The fabric of life dawns, the dawn wears as well as the sunshine of a California holiday; the thread grows coarser as the coat grows older.

The grizzled, crippled veteran in the invalid chair, evidently a lover of music, even he smiles indulgently at the antics of the children. Why, indeed, should he not? he is a bond of sympathy between them? For he has returned to the baby-carriage stage of life, from which the merry rompers on the grass have just emerged. All too soon he must leave off where they not so far back started. So he is breaking out the last few years on earth, in this world's most favored spot, full of hope for young and old alike.

On the benches before the band-stand, careful housewives improve the shining hours with fancy needle-work and bright embroidery, only resting when the tender chords of the music or the perfume of the mimosa blossoms become too intoxicating for the exactness of the thread. Here, on what resembles the top of a kettledrum, scarlet pepper-berries are taking form under the nimble needle of a fair-haired wife, who yet never loses sight of her two babes, apparently lost in a modern wood of petticoats and petticoats, and questioning different grown-ups with solemn, round-eyed scrutiny. There, a flaming polka-dotted is starting to adorn a possible sofa cushion for some probable college student; further on a grim old maid is busy with a spray of orange blossoms—yes, and smiles. See, how California sets her seal on these knitters in the sun.

But now the sun is sinking behind the low, round hills of Annandale, seeking still farther off the hidden waters of the great Pacific. The fluffy, feminine white clouds in the western sky are flushing pink, and the ardent kisses of the sun-god, while the stern snow-capped mountains, holding back the frozen East, fling an angry crimson answer to the rosy reproaches of the ravished horizon. Now the music grows softer and falls back insensibly into the well-remembered melodies of olden poetry and primitive songs. Tunes all colored green with the lawns, the trees, and the name of the largest hotel. "The Harp that Once—" "The Minstrel Boy;" "The Last Rose of Summer;" perhaps a strange air, this, with which to close a Californian concert where summer is eternal and the roses never cease to bloom. Yet even here, so consecrated is the power of association, so strong the spirit of ancestry, a magnetic stiffness falls upon the listening throng; the finger forgets to stitch, the children to scramble, the invalid his aches and pains, as the progressive chords of the simple Irish melody vibrate in the peaceful air.

So humanizing is the sob song of the sons of Erin, that the eyes of the apocryphal trombone player only smile when the children and the collie start a final rumpus right under the nose of the gilt-laced conductor. No one notices any discord now, if any discord there be; the children, the park, the sunset, the super-hour, all are fantasies like the ghosts of Orlando, of Jacques and fair Rosalind; surely so at least to the romantic Irish lass, gripping hard the bronzed hand of her handsome swain, as though some physical touch alone will keep her spirit from dissolving with the music. The gray-blue eyes are misty, blurred, like eucalyptus leaves seen through the fog. Lost beyond 4000 miles of mountain, plain and ocean, Irish lass, gripping hard the bronzed hand of her handsome swain, as though some physical touch alone will keep her spirit from dissolving with the music. CURES BLOOD POISON

A great many so-called remedies for Contagious Blood Poison are composed almost entirely of strong mineral ingredients. They seem to be compounded with the idea that one poison will counteract another—provided the stomach and delicate portions of the system can withstand the effects of the strong treatment. These concoctions are intended to kill the poison in the system. In this article we want to tell you of S. S. S., a purely vegetable remedy for Contagious Blood Poison, a medicine that not only cures the disease, but one which from the first dose has a fine tonic effect upon the stomach and the entire system. Nor does S. S. S. attempt to kill the germs within the system, but cures by REMOVING them from the blood—which is absolutely the only way to cure the disease.

It does not require any argument to establish the fact that a blood disease can be cured only by a blood purifier; every one will admit the truthfulness of this statement. The question of most importance therefore is, what medicine has proven by actual results its superiority as a blood purifier? We claim this distinction for S. S. S., and offer as proof the fact that for more than forty years it has been sold under this claim and the demand for it has steadily increased, and we have thousands of testimonials from cured patients from all parts of the country.

Contagious Blood Poison, as the name implies, is an infectious blood taint which may be communicated from one person to another. Its virus is of a most insidious nature, multiplying from an insignificant germ in the blood, until it becomes a thorough systemic poison. Its first symptom is usually a tiny sore or pimple, but it rapidly spreads, and in a short while the entire body gives evidence of the poison in the blood. The mouth and throat ulcerate, glands in the groin swell, the hair begins to come out, copper-colored spots appear on the body, and frequently running sores and ulcers break out on the flesh.

A condition of such serious nature requires proper treatment. Not only must the disease be driven out, but the system which has been weakened by the ravages of the poison, must be built up before health can be restored.

S. S. S. CURED HIM.
I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first, but afterwards spread all over my body. These soon broke out into sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering endured. Before I became convinced that the doctors could do me no good, I had spent a hundred dollars, which was really thrown away. I then tried a patent medicine, but they did not reach the disease. When I had finished my first bottle of S. S. S. I was greatly improved, and was delighted with the result. The large red spots on my chest began to grow paler and smaller, and before long disappeared entirely. I regained my lost weight, became stronger and my appetite greatly improved. I was soon entirely well, and my skin as clear as a piece of glass.
H. L. MEYERS.
58 Clinton St., Newark, N. J.

S. S. S. is perfectly safe for any one to take, and instead of upsetting the stomach as mineral medicines do, it tones up this important member and makes digestion easy. Thousands have cured themselves of Contagious Blood Poison by the use of S. S. S., and if you will write and request it we will send you, without charge, a Home Treatment Book, which will give you all necessary information for curing yourself at your own home. We will also give you free any special medical advice you ask for. S. S. S. cures by making pure, healthy blood—Nature's real remedy.

What does your daily paper bring into your home?

This is Collier's work for 1911

We want your help on these six questions

$50 for the best answer

Just follow these directions

"The American press has more influence it ever had in any other time or any other country. Is it for good or ill?"

Collier's, The National Weekly, has spent over $25,000 in preparing the human treatise of this vital subject—something intense, truthful narrative, written for the public. Well-known writers are at work on a series of articles that bristle with facts and fiction. This series is now appearing and continue to run about every other week out 1911.

These men know what they are talking about—but we want more.

We want the opinion of the newspapermen themselves.

—we need your view-point.

—and we ask you to answer these six questions:

1. What local newspaper do you read regularly?
2. How are your opinions influenced by its editorials?
3. Do you as a rule believe what you read in the news columns?
4. What feature or department do you value most?
5. What criticisms, if any, have you to make?
6. Which local newspapers are good, and which a bad, influence on the community?

For the best answer about the newspaper in each city in which this advertising contest Collier's will give a prize of $50.00. The must not be more than 500 words long. Every other letter that may be published in Collier's, in whole or in part, we will pay for.

Your answer will assist a splendid work to tell the world not only the truth about American journalism, but also —the good that some powerful newspapers accomplish.

—the evil done by others.

—what they are doing for and against democracy.

The six questions may be followed up, ally, or considered merely as suggestions. Write what you feel. We want the truth from you, the intelligent citizen who has a well-being of his city at heart. You know what is the important subject better than we.

This offer is open to every one, and reservation.

Send letter to Collier's Newspaper, 416 West 13th Street, New York City.

Miss Hazel Hotchkiss, the national tennis champion of the United States, is to arrive in Los Angeles this morning and go at once to Long Beach, where she will participate in the tournament.

Miss Hotchkiss's entry means that she will play Miss May Sutton for the ladies' championship Saturday. Miss Sutton is playing in grand form and Miss Hotchkiss has practiced faithfully during the winter season on the Berkeley courts. Miss Hotchkiss and Miss Sutton are expected to win their way to the finals.

The mixed doubles event promises to be one of the best in the history of the sport in this State. Miss Hotchkiss and Maurice McLoughlin of San Francisco, will play Miss May Sutton and Thomas Bundy of Los Angeles, Saturday afternoon.

YESTERDAY'S MATCHES.

Well played tennis matches featured the opening day of the Hotel Virginia tournament. The best tennis of the day was the Sinsabaugh-Holmes match which was won by the former in two straight sets after a strenuous contest. Sinsabaugh won the first set 7-5, after Holmes had Sinsabaugh 4-3, but the latter braced up and won the next two games in brilliant fashion. Holmes won the next after a hard duce game and Sinsabaugh then forced to the front, winning the next two.

Holmes started off in whirlwind style in the second set and had annexed three straight before Sinsabaugh struck his rail. He settled down and won six straight, taking the set and match. Sinsabaugh's smashing serves and excellent back-court work won for him. Holmes was rather wild in the second set and failed to show his usual speed and skill.

Will Horrell gave Tom Bundy a hard fight in the first set of their match, but lost set 6-4. Bundy took off his wraps in the second and won easily 6-2. Bundy's placing and back-hand strokes were features of this contest. He appears to be in excellent condition. One of the best matches of the day was between T. W. Hendrick and A. V. Duncan. Hendrick won the match in two straight sets, after a grueling battle.

Only two ladies' matches were played during the day. Mrs. Stickrod defeated Miss Cullen in two straight sets, 6-4, 6-3; and Miss Dillon won from Miss Harnett, 6-1, 6-3. The match between Mrs. Stickrod and Miss Cullen was a brilliant one and aroused the spectators to a high pitch of enthusiasm. Mrs. Stickrod plays a strong and aggressive game and has greatly improved in her style of playing. She is especially effective in the back court and plays a good net game. Miss Harnett played a plucky uphill game, but was outclassed by her opponent.

BEN HUNT PAYS RESPECTS TO TY COBB, BALL PLAYER.

BY BEN HUNT.

Pitcher for the Boston Red Sox.

Cobb on Cobb, and when a pitcher does that he is less effective. If they were all Cobbs in the American League it would be back to the bush for me, I guess, and many other big league pitchers.

I consider Tris Speaker, our center fielder, superior as a free hitter to any man in the American League, but he is so anxious to hit the ball that he slams at the wide ones, and of course you have got to pick the good ones to make base hits.

I like my job with Boston and I believe we will be up at the front for that rag this year. We have got a rounded-out team now and everybody works with the other fellows. We have all had big league experience and they can't get the Indian sign on us, unless, of course, they all develop into Cobbs.

Mr. Taylor is a real fan, and he wants a winning team. At one time toward the close of last season, we were playing a series of bang-up games—1 to 0, 2 to 1, 2 to 0, and so on—but we were losing, and Mr. Taylor walked among us in the clubhouse looking holes clear through us. Then one day we won, 11 to 0, in simply a rotten game. That night Mr. Taylor sent us all a box of cigars.

It's the winners they all want, and we are going to play to win, this season.

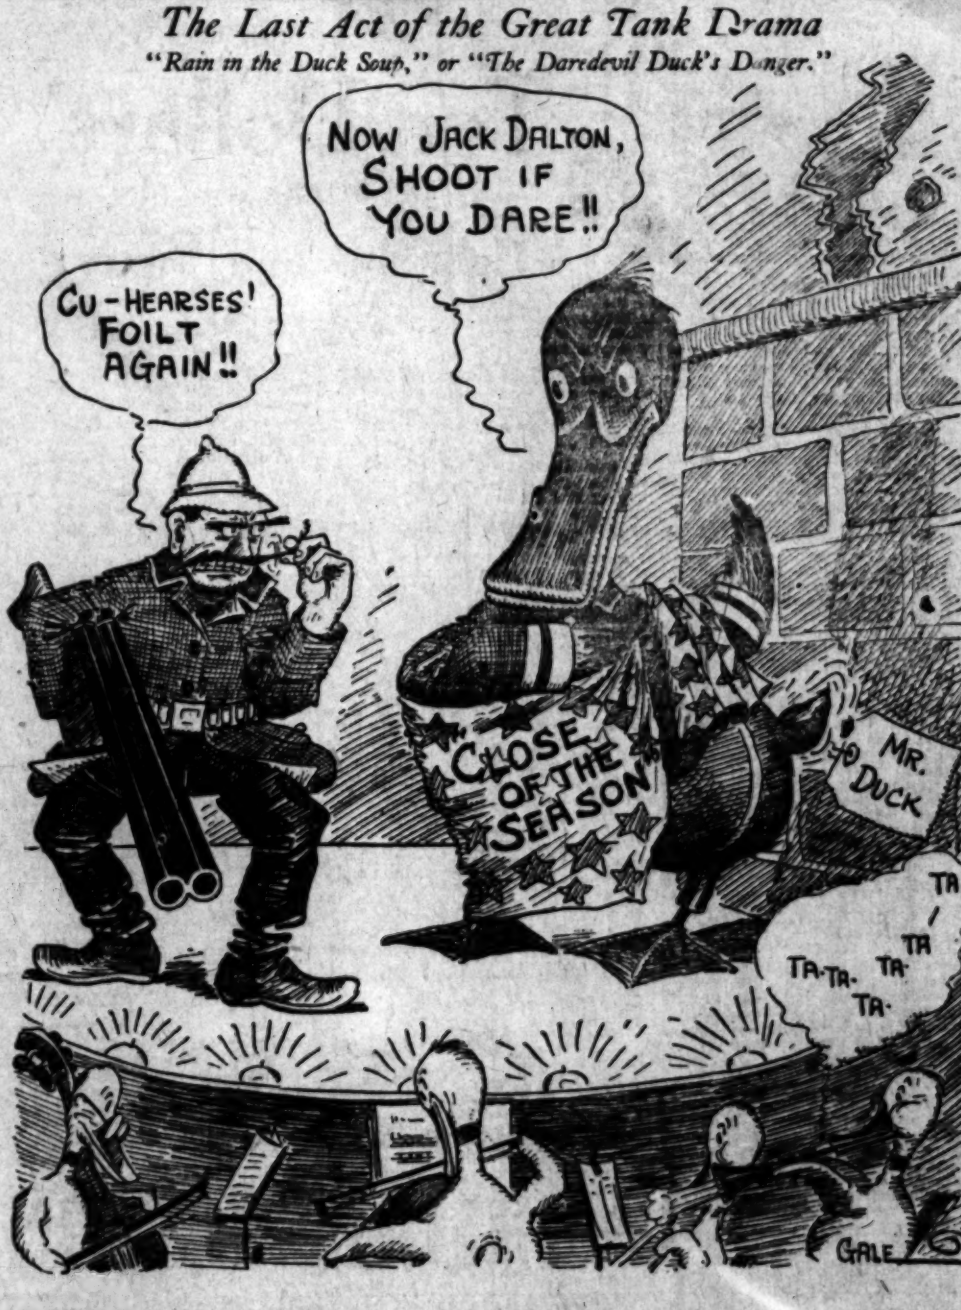

You have to watch the bases awfully

A school of leaping tuna was sighted off Sugar Loaf, Catalina, yesterday, ravenously pursuing smaller fish.

In their mysterious coming and going, the tuna seldom get so close to Avalon; their favorite resort lies six or eight miles off Seal Rocks, and for them to appear inshore at all at this season is remarkable.

News that the tuna have come will go round the world. Many prominent eastern men have a standing order to be notified by wire if the tuna leap. Some sportsmen come even from Europe when the schools are sighted.

George P. Adams,
champion duck shooter of California, who has bagged fifty-six limits.

POACHER CONFESSES; SAYS IT'S DEAD EASY.

BY HIMSELF.

WITHOUT belonging to a gun club in Los Angeles I have shot ducks in all the leading gun clubs in this country, and believe me, it is dead easy if you know the ropes.

All you need is a thorough knowledge of the lay of the land and a certain amount of "nerve."

Just as a sample of the ease with which I can bag a bunch of ducks, I will tell you of a few of my experiences dodging keepers and getting on the ground without being detected or even put to the embarrassment of being questioned.

One day I went down to the Dominguez Club with the intention of bagging the limit of ducks. I took my dog, Buster, and left Los Angeles in the first car, getting off at Dominguez station. I walked to the entrance of the club, opened the gate, walked past a number of men who were early on the ground, went down to the water's edge and picked out a boat that looked

LAST RACE WON BY OLD MASSA.

Law Crowds Out Betting on California Tracks.

Racing as a Sport Dies With the Gambling Game.

Veteran Hangers-on Shed Big Crocodile Tears.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The cosmopolitan and picturesque crowd which follows the fortunes and vicissitudes of the turf bowed to the force of the law, today, and the Kentucky race meeting came to a close.

As the band struck up the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" after the seventh and last race had been run, the crowded grand stand of race-goers took up the tune and joined in with the band.

Other seasons have come to a close at the bay track and the followers of the thoroughbred have parted with a good word and cheer, but today it was different. The seventh race today, in which Old Massa carried off the honors, may be the last one California will see.

The Walker-Young anti-gambling law which has now gone into effect sounded the death knell of a sport which has flourished in California for years.

Men who have grown gray in following the sport were at the track today by the score, and it must have been an ordeal for them to watch the game killed outright by adverse legislation.

Little Jones, the once great little jockey, presented a pitiable spectacle as he stood supporting himself against the grand stand stair just after the seventh race. The crippled little fellow was wiping a tear from his eye. He was paralyzed from a fall in a race and his entire life has been given to the game which today came to an end in California. Jones was the jockey who rode four winners the day the Emeryville track was opened.

W. F. Maxwell, one of the oldest turfmen in America, was another who was deeply affected. "Well, I guess I will go to the mountains for three or four months," spoke the veteran.

Old faces which were well known on the turf years ago showed up to watch the last day's races. If Murphy's ride celebrated for scoring with the 200 to 1 shot, Bright Skies, took a day off from his labors as a ball-boy at the Fairmont hotel and mingled with the crowd, it seemed as if everybody was there.

The end and, judging from the reception which was tendered Roy Seiden as he piloted the last winner past the wire, the sport of kings died in a blaze of glory that to be remembered.

ALL OVER.

DAMS CLOSES DUCK SEASON.

AFTERMATH OF WINTER SPORT TOLD BY A VETERAN.

Last Saturday's shooting the most enjoyable of the year—Up and Down of the Chamber's Lives Behind the Blinds—It'll Do to Tell.

BY GEORGE F. ADAMS.

Well, it's all over. The duck season ended yesterday.

Ordinarily the shooting drops off toward the end and we are compelled to do much sky scraping in order to get a respectable bag.

They are talking about protecting the ducks by shorter seasons and smaller limits; but the flights of this year have been so constant that limits were the rule every day—which means to be complete answer to those arguments.

The most enjoyable day's shooting I had this season was last Saturday—the last shoot of our squad on the Wing for the year.

Six of us went down in automobile Friday night, never expecting that it would rain the next morning. I had dinner we lighted our cigars and sat down to listen to old chestnuts that had done service in our grandfather's days. But Dr. Schuffman, who is one of the biggest-hearted souls that ever lived, was minus a cigar. As it was the last night, I opened my heart and gave him a cigar which had been given me by a friend, and which I diagnosed as being at least suspicious.

The doctor asked me if it was loaded, and I told him I thought it was. But he never believed anything. He had been to church on Sunday night and listened to a sermon on "Feeling From the Wrath to Come," which strongly impressed him. All at once there was an explosion, the fire shot out from that cigar about six feet and the doctor's face was a study as he dropped on his knees and lifted his eyes, and his voice. He confessed to me afterwards that, for the time being, that cigar impressed him more strongly of the wrath to come than the sermon had.

Well, we resumed the story telling and I told one that I thought was new, when Dick Stephens asked me what was the difference between a dog, a turkey and a turkey. Nobody knew, but some one suggested that Dr. Schuffman's face was still very much the same as when he shot the turkey in action. Dick, in his mild mannered way, suggested that a turkey was stuffed with chestnuts after death.

That they turned home on poor Alan Barrett, who is one of the best shots and best hunters that ever pulled down on a duck, and told him that a Dr. B. had heart failure a few days before, while shooting on the dyke of a water-boring club. Instantly everybody was interested in Aleck's heart, and when he would stay close to his heart next day and not have a widow and children to mourn over his last duck shoot for the season.

In the morning it was threatening rain and was as dark as midnight when

FLYNN ENTERS HIS CHALLENGE.

Looking for Trouble in Oklahoma City.

No Match Left in Sight for Pueblo Fireman.

Grant Morris Repudiates Eddie Robinson.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Feb. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jim Flynn, of Pueblo, Col., tonight issued from the ringside at Sapulpa a challenge to Carl Morris, the Oklahoma fighter who claims to be the "hope of the white race" and who has won six fights by his efforts to reach a point where he can challenge Jack Johnson, heavy-weight champion of the world.

Laboring under the impression that he was slated to fight Morris here February 22, Flynn had been in Oklahoma City last night in time to be introduced.

Flynn is looking for trouble, claiming to have received telegrams and messages from Eddie Robinson offering a bout in Oklahoma City with Morris. Flynn went into training and came on to Oklahoma City believing he was to meet the Sapulpa man here on Washington's street.

The first heard of the match here, was in dispatches announcing that Flynn was headed for Oklahoma City. Carl Morris, when called by telephone, denied he was slated to meet Flynn and stated he certainly would not do so under Robinson's promise. Robinson also denied any knowledge of the fight.

The fight between Jess Willard, one of the numerous Oklahoma "hopes," and Louis Finke, added abruptly in the tenth round when the decision was awarded to Finke on a foul.

In the third round Willard and Finke had divided honors, though Finke had gone to the floor once as a result of a blow to the head. The fourth round was a hard one for the first, both men landing many effective blows. Both were fighting hard.

At the beginning of the fourth round the relative qualities of the two men began to show. Finke got all the better of the argument during that round and during the fifth, Willard began to get desperate during the sixth, however, while Finke was weakening. The rest of the fight was even.

RAYMOND TO SAVE US.

The Duncans at the Auditorium

Point the Way to the Rhythmic and Careless Life.

Raymond Duncan, a long haired apostle of Hellenic ideas, Grecian gymnastics, brick laying, and a small simplicity, with the assistance of his wife Penelope, a lady apostle of the aforementioned things, held the boards at the Auditorium last evening with a program as unique as it was insane.

First Raymond, a boy reformer in a fringed nightgown and sandals, gave a long rambling and fanatical lecture on physiological rhythm and the proper method of callisthenics. In this discourse, which was sweetly innocent of any final g's, the audience was succinctly told the proper method of laying bricks and how to plant beans through an enemy's back.

Front. In addition to this useful information, Raymond demonstrated how one might poke the fire rhythmically without falling head first into the flames.

The famous Russian dancers were attacked, and it was intimated that all those who entered the exhibition were tasteless and ignorant. Then the meagrier-attired speaker told the audience that Morokis danced like a goose, and proceeded to demonstrate how it should have been done.

Most of the speaker's time was given over to insulting the American intelligence. There is hope for us, however, Raymond assured us, because he came especially from the sales of Greece to educate us. This was kind of Raymond.

As to the second half of this absurd performance the less said the better. After a long harangue in which the speaker apostrophized the audience as compared with his musical intelligence the minds of kindergarten babies, Penelope watched rudely some old Greek, Irish and Chinese folk songs. Although before each selection Raymond assured the listeners that they were incapable of appreciating the slightest understanding of what Penelope was rendering, there was not a song any more intricate or more difficult of understanding musically than the finger exercises of Mendelssohn.

The whole affair was too fanatical to be taken seriously.

Considerable noise is being heard about the salary limit adopted by Southern League managers last fall. It appears that a unanimous vote is necessary to revise the limit, and a lot of tight wads talking of what they would do, when there isn't a chance.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jake Stahl, under reserve to the Boston American League Club, is through with baseball. Offers of the greatest magnitude could not persuade him to don a uniform again.

This came today from Manager Pat Donovan of the Red Sox, who had a long talk with Stahl in an effort to induce him to come back again and play first base for the team.

Stahl listened to Donovan's pleadings but said he would not in any circumstances even consider returning to the national sport. He said he has played his last season and has now settled down to real business life. Stahl is now vice-president of the Washington Park National Bank.

BOOSTS LESTER.

SEATTLE, Feb. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While Tommy Burns is out of the fighting game for good he has not lost his interest in it, and is now trying to develop another "white hope" in Jack Lester, whom he is very anxious to have Jack Johnson fight. Tommy's hope on Lester, however, may be as bad as his own on fighting Johnson, as local sports are inclined to be

VERNON LOSES PITCHER WADE.

Portland's Infield Strong If Ball Play—Bill Hogan May Play—Outfield for Athletics.

New Hook Curve Does Not Interest Mathewson.

Pitcher Jack Wade, who has some sort of an idea that he belongs to the Vernon team, has signed to pitch for Eddie Householder's Victoria Club in the Northwest League. Jack would like to go to some other team if Eddie will let him go.

Walter Carlisle is still hobbling around from the effects of an operation performed some days ago on one of his legs. He has been suffering for several months from various ailments but believes he will be in good shape when the spring practice begins.

Jake Thielman, formerly a pitcher here for Charley Kelly's Northwest League team, who tried to knock the Coast League out of the map some years ago, is to be with the Chattanooga team of the Southern League this year. He was once a slashing good heaver and has been in the big brush.

With Rapps at first, Neal Ball at second, Beckenbaugh at short, and Sheehan at third, McCredie of the Portland team would have a very warm infield, if Ball decides to set aside many contrary rumors and play. However, Mack's pitching staff doesn't look half so strong.

Connie Mack says he will give Bill Hogan of Oakland a trial as an outfielder. If Con is smart he will also try him at other places, for he can do anything but catch. He was the star of the Coast League last season.

It seems very funny that if Tom Hughes, Dave Altizer, Josh Clarke and a dozen more former big leaguers can come back, it should strike the ordinary fan that a player is never out until he is out. Altizer has done some playing here in the Winter League this year that few infielders could beat for sensations.

Young Miller, who thought he might pitch for the Vernon team last year, may be tried again. He begged off last spring because he thought he might make a failure, but now Hogan is talking to him again. He is living at home out in the Covina district.

Johnny Kling is making a howl that he would like to get away from the Chicago Cubs. He has been one of the Chicago fans who saw him in some of the world series games last fall would be a mighty job this year that he was last. He acted like he was all in.

STEELE DEFEATS MAUDE IN DEL MONTE GOLF HANDICAP.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

DEL MONTE, Feb. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] C. E. Maude was defeated by R. W. Steele of the Merion Golf Club, Philadelphia, in the Del Monte Golf Handicap for men. R. W. Steele, Black California Golf Club, won from F. A. Wilkins, San Francisco Golf Club, in the second flight. The score:

Steele (3) four and three; Maude (scratch) one up; Black (2) two and one; Wilkins (6) three and one.

In the first flight, semi-finals, Del Monte handicap for women—Mrs. Peter Kerr of Portland defeated Miss Elizabeth Baile of the Northern Club, one up in 21 holes; Miss Chesbrough defeated Mrs. J. R. Clark, three and two.

In the second flight, Miss Alice Warner won over Mrs. F. McComas, four and three; Mrs. W. Warner defeated Mrs. M. Lake, one up.

Out of eighteen playing in the Men's Consolation Handicap, seven failed to hand over scores. Ford was the winning man, Douglas Grant coming in second, with G. R. Andrews of Seattle third. Score:

J. E. Ford, 82, 92—174; (handicap 24); H. Grant, 74, 103—177; G. R. Andrews, 81, 105—186; (2); W. K. Wright, 88, 105—193; (2); W. S. Davis, 92, 99—191; (2); R. Reynolds, 97, 101—198; (2); C. Steele, 103, 95—198; (2); Carl Steele, 103, 95—198; (2); George Innes, 101, 99—200; (2); J. Austin Smith, 104, 105—209; (2); Teddy Wilcox, 114, 123—237; (2); W. Worth Bean, 127, 106—233; (2).

A Jack rabbit following all day created ripples of excitement and kept the crowd merry, busy and well.

W. Worth Bean, who declares that his first stroke with the golf club was in the Del Monte links last Saturday and who has been dubbed the goat, was heard today to utter with emphasis "A few months from now I'll show these golfers that I can make scores with the best of them."

Tomorrow morning the Women's Finals come. In the afternoon evening the committee is scheduled. On Friday will come the mixed foursomes.

PEERLESS MAN IS HERE.

Harrison Makes Flying Visit and Reports Business Good in Bay City.

Must Go Back at Once.

H. O. Harrison is here from San Francisco on a flying visit. There is too much going in the Bay City for him to remain longer than a day and a half. He expects to close up several important deals before he takes the train tonight. He is building an immense structure in San Francisco to accommodate his business interests here.

The Peerless and Everett distributor looks well in spite of the fact that he has been working hard every minute. Tom Williams expected Harrison could remain at least a week. He was disappointed when the chief of the H. O. Harrison Company announced his intention of taking the train for San Francisco in less than forty-eight hours after his arrival.

Business at the Los Angeles branch looked good enough and Harrison decided to let Williams alone. He found the Peerless and Everett moving out steadily and he had no suggestions to make other than to tell Williams he could not sell too many cars.

The record of the season is good. The Peerless cars are a standard of high-grade efficiency and the boosters are taking care of the business. The Everett is being distributed in Southern California and Harrison expects to establish agencies in every city of the Southland this year.

HORSES AWAY FOR THE EAST.

Forty-to-One Shot Wins the Adios Handicap.

Six Thousand Persons See the Last Event.

Stables Packed for Shipping to Distant Tracks.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

OAKLAND, Feb. 15.—The race meeting, which was originally scheduled to continue 100 days, was brought to a close after it had gone but eighty-two days. There was a sensational feature to the racing when Adios, quoted at 40 to 1, won the Adios handicap. The other events were keenly contested and there were some good finishes.

Jockey Shilling, whose mounts had been confined to the stable of G. W. Berry, was restored to good standing today, and was back on the track. Frank St. D. Skinner, the caller who has officiated at Emeryville for many seasons, will leave for Juarez in a few days to take up the task of getting out the official form chart on the Mexican meeting races.

George Berry declared today that the Spectre's extensive string of crack 2-year-olds would be reared up at Emeryville for a month or two and would then be shipped to Pimlico to be raced. Moore Johnson has decided to take Raleigh P. D. and J. H. Barr back into within a week or two and would likely go to Jamestown.

Tom Stevens, the veteran Kentucky horseman who met with such success during the afternoon with Adios, will remain at the bay track until the intermountain circuit opens.

Jockeys Carroll Shilling and Clifford Gilbert, who have been in bad standing with the Emeryville track officials, were restored to good standing on the last day of the meeting. Shilling will ride for Sam Hildreth during the coming season while Gilbert is a free lance and may go to Juarez.

There will be a big exodus for Juarez tomorrow. Blakely, with his string, C. P. Waterhouse, Weaver and Company, and other large stables have made plans to ship tomorrow.

Myer's is getting together a big string to take back East with him. Besides buying Banorella from George Strate, he claimed Endymion II out of the fifth race for $500.

Jack Crane with Jockey Chris Kirschbaum will stay at Emeryville until the intermountain circuit opens this summer.

SEYMOUR WINS AGAIN.

Beats Chick Wright in Second Block of Handicap Match at Bala Line Billiards.

Art Seymour, the local three-cushion and balk-line billiardist, defeated Chick Wright again last night in their handicap match at 183 balk line in the Brunswick room on West Fourth street. Seymour made 300 to 248 by Wright, and on the two nights' play the total scores are 600 for Seymour and 584 for Wright.

The game was played in twenty-five innings and Seymour's average was 12 and Wright's a fraction above 10. Seymour made a high run of 58 to 45 for Wright. The game was a very good one and a large crowd of spectators watched the contest. Seymour played a lot of safety and this hampered Wright. Chick played himself out in his practice yesterday afternoon, evidently, for he made runs of 120 and 85. Wright is to play 1200 points to 900 by Seymour, but Chick seems to be up against it, and hardly has a chance to win. The final block of points will be played tonight.

FISH AND GAME COMMISSION OUT.

(Associated Press Night Report.)

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14.—The bill to abolish the Fish and Game Commission and to place the work formerly done by the commission under the State Forester, was passed by the Assembly, 42 to 34, at this afternoon's session.

The State Forester is empowered to appoint a deputy at a salary of $3600 per year, who shall have the appointment of six other deputies for six different districts, at salaries of $150 a month each.

The bill was opposed by Assemblymen Chandler and Bennett. It was defended by Griffiths. The argument occupied most of the two sessions today.

good to me and with the self-assurance of a charter member I got in and leisurely paddled out to a likely looking blind.

As soon as daylight permitted me to see the game I began to blaze away, and by noon I had bagged fifteen ducks, some variety, too, including red-heads, sprig, cinnamon teal and mallards. I had taken the boat, pulled it well up on the bank, shouldered my sack of ducks, walked to "Buster" and at high noon whistled out of the club grounds unmolested.

When I trespassed on the privileges of the Bolsa Chica duck reserves I was not nearly so bold in my manner of proceeding, but just as lucky in results.

I had tramped the hills which were destined to be the club grounds for many years before they were ever thinking of gun clubs and I was thoroughly familiar with the lay of the land, so when I determined to try my luck, I just made a wide detour of the club grounds and crossed the low hills, till I reached a place well grown over with tule. Here I waded in as far as my hip boots permitted, only attempting to nail the ducks which flew over the close inland. I bagged some dandy birds, counting up close to the limit as the result of my day's sport.

It could mention many other gun clubs that I have visited surreptitiously this season, always with fairly good results, and without being questioned, except once. On that occasion I not only had to give up the brace of ducks I had bagged, but also had to part with a five spot to smooth the keeper's nerves. At some of the clubs I sneaked in, as at Bolsa Chica. Usually I got by the keeper by sheer "nerves." It all depends upon the "front" you make when you first see the keeper. Just nod to him coolly and he is so taken aback that nine times out of ten you can get away with it. He is afraid you might be a new member or a distinguished guest, whose face he has forgotten.

I don't know whether I am only one who has been poaching on club preserves this season or not, but I fancy not, as it is very difficult these days to find a swamp or "blind" that has not been taken possession of by some club or other. However, I do not think my record for numbers, my visits to a variety of clubs, or my luck in eluding the "watchful" keepers, can be beaten by any of my contemporaries in the exciting and profitable game of poaching.

landers who showed their good judgment by migrating to Southern California, have permitted themselves to sit idly by for so long a time and allow the Brits to monopolize the sport. Green figures have been observed flitting mysteriously about on the soccer field in the early Sunday morning hours for some time past. The Irish, it is claimed, lack some of the gentle courtesies which are characteristic of the English and Scotch games. For this reason and the fact that an Irishman never did manifest any too much of the brotherly feeling for the bunch across the channel, it would seem likely that when these two nationalities do get together the match will be well worth while.

Viva Barney.

Mexicans may have a great deal more appreciation for a good bullfight than an up-to-date automobile race, but the press agent who was assigned the job of doing publicity for Barney Oldfield at Mexico City was a wonder. A recently imported poster from the revolutionary climate of that country makes it very evident that the famous outlaw has some rep even down there. Barney was supposed to race in the Mexican town February 18 to 20, during a "gran automovilistica exposition," and from the space and the color given the event on the program it seems that he was to be the whole show. The name Barney Oldfield is about the only thing an ordinary intelligent American can make out amidst the conglomeration of "Español," but the rest of the hill doesn't seem to amount to much anyway.

SEASON MARKED AMONG THINGS THAT HAVE PASSED.

BY EDWIN L. HEDDERLEY.

homeward bound cars. Wind, by raising the heavy sea, would break up these flocks and send the birds hurrying inland to the expectant gunners.

Of all winds in Orange county, the "Santa Ana" which is a dry, gusty fresh from the desert east of the mountains, is the best. Ducks like to fly to windward, and most gunners very much applaud this device, as they can do good work on birds, barely making headway against the gale, while most gunners simply cannot swing fast enough to out-guess a bird whirling down the wind.

The "Santa Ana" winds this year almost without exception have fallen from the sky, and a few Balsa gunners charge up the birds shooting under this hood; but the majority think the road shooting is the chief reason.

The El Patron Club is the Ballona had a very good season, and Tom Potter averaged about 25 birds there for his season's work. The Patron is a little place, but well cared for, and the membership is composed mostly of experienced hunters. Capt. William and J. B. Hanning, Dr. R. Wernick, R. H. and Wm. Lacey, J. W. Vaughn, Col. Bob Northam, Tom Potter, are members who are quite regular in attendance.

Excepting the Patron Club, the shooting in the Ballona district was not so successful. About the only other club in the district was the Green Wing and Cerritos Clubs had some good sport, although a few below past year.

The Alamitos Club had good shooting right through, but the members shot only one day a week—Sundays. Jeffries, Warren Hopperstead, Artie Picher and several other worthies, who have made their mark in the lines of sport than duck shooting, being.

HALF MILLION BONUS FOR ADOPTION OF ITS BALL.

(Associated Press Night Report.)

Feb. 15.—For a bonus, the club will travel 94,722 miles during the season.

The club schedule for the season, according to the schedule, will be as follows:

Boston, 11,124; Brooklyn, 9,237; New York, 10,514; Philadelphia, 8,425; Pittsburgh, 11,190; Cincinnati, 10,383; Chicago, 14,573; St. Louis, 11,124.

In St. Louis all conflicts have been eliminated for the first time, and each league had thirteen Sundays to itself, or fifty per cent of the whole.

There are but two scheduled double-headers—both in Boston.

Each club plays on twenty-six Saturdays.

The salary of President Thomas J. Lynch was increased from $9,000 to $10,000 a year.

TRANS-ATLANTIC BALLOON.

KIEL (Germany) Feb. 15.—The new dirigible balloon, Suchard in which Joseph Brucker will attempt a trans-Atlantic voyage, was christened today by Princess Henry of Prussia, Brucker to cross the ocean from the Cape Verde Islands to Barbados, or Trinidad, in March or April.

SAN DIEGO AUTO ROAD SHORTENED

Nine miles is being chopped from the automobile Coast road to San Diego. When the rains are over and the road is passable the distance to the south-east city will be shortened and some of the roughest going will be eliminated. This is of special interest to autoists who expect to make the journey.

The road at present winds through the hills into the San Luis Rey Valley and passes close to the old mission. The new boulevard being built by the San Diego County Highway Commission follows the coast line and goes direct into Oceanside. This cuts out a fierce grade leading from the San Luis Rey River into Oceanside.

Three miles from Oceanside a splendid bridge is almost completed. In a week it will not be necessary to drive through the river bottom where the quicksands are dangerous. Just beyond Oceanside, at Encinitas, another big improvement has just been completed. The road was opened yesterday and is a boon to motorists. Instead of dropping into the creek at Encinitas, a fill has been made and there is a slight dip, but the road is straight. No more low gear work is necessary at Encinitas. Instead you can go through on high gear in perfect safety.

GOSSIP ALONG GASOLINE ROW.

At least two-thirds of the automobile men are away this morning hunting ducks. We hope they will each get the limit but it is doubtful.

Guy West, of the Western Rubber and Supply Company, is out with a nimrod. He has taken a barrel of ammunition with him and hopes to bag two redheads, three canvas backs, six bluebills, nine "spoonies" four sprigs and a mud hen.

P. A. Renton is too busy selling Overlands to take the time to hunt ducks. He has other things to do these days and in making a sales record of which he might well be proud.

Earle C. Anthony says trade is picking up these days. He is selling Packard cars faster than he did at this time last year and that is going some.

Woods R. Wooline is on the job every minute. He sold a Cartier yesterday and has two prospects to work on tomorrow. He is a real salesman and expects to make demonstrations himself this coming week.

Business is good at the Franklin agency. Ralph Hamlin says he will sell three more Franklin cars this week. Hope you make good, Ralph.

D. R. Rose is back from Chicago. Since his return he insists in riding in an Ohio electric. He was almost arrested at Seventh and Spring streets yesterday, but he says a miss is as good as a mile. The Ohios are selling remarkably well.

Herbert Brown is no longer in the automobile business. He is sorry, because he was sure the Knox would be the greater seller ever. He may soon return if things arrange themselves according to his liking.

W. D. Howard is turning out Winston six-cylinders in numbers. He is making a hit with the handsome line this year and is selling them at a faster clip than they have ever been sold any previous year in Los Angeles territory.

The autoists are interested in the tennis tourney at Long Beach. Several of them went to the seaside city yesterday. There are a number of good racket-wielders on auto row.

Tom Williams, manager for the H. O. Harrison Company, claims to be the champion tennis player among the automobile men. Tom may soon receive a challenge from Fred Flint and also from Earle C. Anthony. Look out Tom, you may lose your laurels.

Baker electric is all the rage, according to Fred Flint. When he tries the manager of the Stoddard-Dayton Motor Car Company can sell machines.

ADAMS CLOSES SEASON.

we left the clubhouse. Dr. Thomas is troubled with cold feet, and only for our urging would have hurried back to town for fear of a storm. He hasn't been in California long, and we convinced him that these clouds were the forerunner of a bright day. About 7 o'clock he got out of his blind to chase a cripple, when Dr. Lewis, who is one of the most expert surgeons in the State and has the untimely reputation in the club of sticking a knife in his friends and charging them for it, and who perhaps by reason of his profession is more cold blooded than the rest of us, called to him in a voice that could be heard in every club adjoining, "remember Dr. B." Everybody took up the refrain and gave him all sorts of advice about staying close to his blind and avoiding heart failure.

We have a rule in our club that no gun shall be fired after twelve o'clock, but as this was our last shoot, we had agreed to take off the time limit. We didn't have to do that however on the shoot, for before twelve o'clock each one had the limit and for the first time in the history of the club the record showed a clean score for the last shoot, but it had rained from every direction, and at two o'clock when we started with chains on our wheels and our rubber boots on the roads were about in as bad a condition as the human mind could conceive.

After going a half a mile we had to get out and push. We covered the first two miles in an hour and a half, which is our usual time for the return trip. Some one suggested that, as we had intended to take the time limit off in shooting and hadn't done so, it would be wise to take the time limit off on returning. And we did.

Dr. Schiffman hired a team to go along with the machine to help in the event that he got stuck. He says he didn't get stuck, but I have heard him tell many things that George W. Nelson never would have said, and it isn't necessary for me to vouch for his statement. As for our machine, we didn't hire a team to go along with us in case we got stuck.

"I had a friend once who had been married and divorced four times, and had two breaths of promise suits, and he used to say that the more he saw of people, the more he liked dogs."

A rancher down there had two old skates that I would not have paid fifteen dollars for prior to last Saturday, but I love horses and the older and more experienced I grow, the more I love horses. When I saw those two skates doing what our fifty horse power Lozier couldn't do, the more I loved horses. At six o'clock with the aid of that rancher and those skates, we had covered six miles. But we had a lot of fun. Once when the horses got into a trot on a stretch of about ten feet of good road, our chauffeur called to the driver to keep his eyes peeled for motor cops, and Dr. Lewis told me in confidence that he had done more work that day pushing on that once highly polished auto, than he had done before in eight years. As for me, I came near breaking one of the commandments.

At the end of five and a half hours the street cars in Los Angeles looked mighty good to us. But we were sights to behold. The day had been a long one to us, filled with sport, jokes, pleasure, hunger and near profanity.

"All in all it was a day long to be remembered and will pass down into history of the Blue Wing Club as having been filled with more lights and shadows than any other day it had ever experienced."

FACTS FEATURES AND ANCIES FOR WOMEN.

BEAUTY HINT: The habit of rubbing the eyes with the fingers is a very prevalent one and it has much to do with making the eyes red and watery. The finger tips are more apt than any part of our hands to come in contact with germs and dirt, yet we thoughtlessly rub them in direct contact with the eyes, which we know, if we stop to think of it, are most susceptible to contagion.

Black and White. The possibilities of beauty in black and white ribbons has not been appreciated until the present, when it seems as though ingenuously had been taxed to produce designs which work out well in these neutral tones.

An Economy. In making croquettes when eggs are high, water may be added to the beaten white or the beaten whole egg for dipping the croquettes. The proportion is a tablespoonful for the white and twice as much for the entire egg. This saves about half.

Still Further. A still greater economy in making croquettes is the use of a good salad oil in place of lard for deep frying. There are several brands of this oil on the market which are inexpensive and by many housewives considered better than lard or even than olive oil for all purposes where a quantity of fat is needed. This salad oil is clean and wholesome, being a product of cotton. For frying French potatoes it is perfect and in addition to being less expensive than lard, it can be used over and over, by taking care to place no seasoning in the food while it is cooking.

Antique. At a place where antique furniture is being sold, I noticed one of the most quaint olden time secretaries. It was of the mahogany which was in use many years ago, having a different finish than that of a later period. When the front is let down, there are displayed innumerable drawers and compartments, packed in all sorts of odd little corners, and then as you become initiated, you find that there are still more places for secreting papers where possibly not even the next generation might find them. I have sometimes thought, as I searched my desk for an item carefully filed away, that secret drawers would be a great convenience in these times of hurry and rush; for we might then know just where to look for the lost articles, in the places where we were certain that we had not placed them.

Rose Leaves. Some time before long I shall again print the recipe for rose petal beads, which so many have called for. I have given it several times, but requests continue to come and after due notice, I mean to try again, so look out!

Fashion's Vagaries. Few of the extremely pointed turban shapes seen in spring millinery are becoming to the average head. Doubtless these shapes will be modified as the fact is realized.

The peasant costume is gaining in favor. The hair is parted, braided and wound in two disks over the ears. Little children also wear the hair in this style.

The true Empire suit has yet to be evolved; and it is doubtful if it would prove worth while should it ever be represented among fashionable models.

A handsome barrette of moderate dimensions is an oblong piece of light shell of exquisite markings studded with entwined scrolls and loops of raised gold dots.

Usually the raised line at the waist is effected by means of a semi-belt which appears across the back, disappears over the hips and is in evidence again across the front.

Laura Emery and Miss Rose Smith. That on Spanish-American literature especially mentioned the works of E. L. Baker, an early Spanish writer of Mexico, some of whose books have recently been translated into English by Mrs. Eve Lummis, working under the Academy of Pacific Coast History of the University of California.

At the Normal School. On Saturday, February 25, the Pacific Equality League will hold its first of a series of Saturday afternoon meetings in the auditorium of the Normal School. A. H. Bailey will preside and the programme, which includes the direction of Mrs. Shelley Tolhurst, will include a number of prominent educators.

Club Dwellers' Association. California Chapter of the Cliff Dwellers' Association met at the home of Mrs. J. J. Eaton, on Flower street, Tuesday afternoon, for a social gathering. FROM GOLF LINKS TO OFFICE

Many a man would be unable to enjoy the healthful exercise of golf if the telephone did not keep him in touch with his business.

A word over the wire saves him an hour's delay in leaving the office. There is another reason.

The busy man's day is made shorter by the Bell Service, which brings him in instant communication, not only with his fellow townsmen, but with correspondents in distant cities.

The Bell System provides universal service to meet the needs of all users.

No Tale More Fascinating in its Mystery Could Possibly be Imagined
Nothing more thoroughly unique in plot and in selection of scene has been written. No novel more fascinating in its mystery, more breathless in its episodes, could possibly be imagined. "G" street will be extended at once, and the street improvements in the residence section will be carried out on "G" street first. It will be sidewalked and curbed its entire length, and oiled, and will be the first of the cross streets to be completed. Same will be planted to ornamental trees this season.

Chamber of Commerce Reviews Good Year.

Statistical Presentation of Rich Twelvemonth.

Out of Great Past Lay Plans for Greater Future.

The epitome of a year of progress remarkable even in Southern California, one that stands prominently high in a decade of years that have been milestones of extraordinary growth, was presented yesterday afternoon to those who have been chiefly instrumental in its making. Seventeen of the standing committees of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce made, at the annual meeting of that body, their statistical reports of matters that have been under their care for the past year, in a form which in itself effects a summary of what Los Angeles accomplished for herself and her neighbors during 1910.

James Slauson, President-elect of the Chamber of Commerce, which summarized the achievements of a remarkable year at its annual meeting yesterday.

on them. They are not so much the completion of great enterprises as of progress in those whose accomplishment lies beyond the span of a single twelvemonth. Pre-eminently through the year's work, the fact has stood out that the Chamber of Commerce has not singly and selfishly represented a city or even a community as much as a section; its activities embracing a breadth of scope making for the welfare of the West.

Individually, the reports are of such volume as to preclude the possibility of naming the particular steps toward the common end. Special attention is directed to the Oriental trip of the Associated Chambers, in which that of this city took a large part, which opened a wealth of invaluable data as to the possibilities of eastern markets. The securing of just rates to the San Joaquin, the progress toward the establishment of a permanent tariff commission and of coast steamship lines are the high spots in commercial activities.

STEPS IN PROGRESS.
The $250,000 State Armory for Los Angeles, the assured steps toward the fortification of the coast and of San Pedro Harbor, the tentative plans for a local torpedo station and for a national military tournament at Los Angeles are noteworthy. The question of a union station is reviewed and a strong recommendation for a terminal company to construct such one on a site furnished by the city is made. The flourishing condition of local and sectional industries, the vast increase in mining and natural products values, the progress toward the reclaiming of more great arid areas through government assistance, the chamber's influence in the framing of the 260-mile State good roads bill, are subjects for pardonable self-congratulation.

Through its collaborating organization, the Convention League, the chamber extended invitations to seventeen national conventions to be held between 1911 and 1914. Eight were accepted and six are still to be decided. The chamber sent representatives to twenty-four conventions and had exhibits at six large expositions. Three hundred thousand persons registered at the local exhibition rooms during the year, to a grand total of ten times that many. Plans are being formed for permanent exhibits at New York and Chicago, such as is maintained at Atlantic City.

The chamber conducted six excursions, with a total attendance of more than a thousand people. In spite of its curtailed publicity facilities, it sent out more than a million pieces of literature during the year. Its total expenditures for the twelvemonth were $22,089.25; its receipts, plus cash forward, $102,905.59. The treasury at present shows a balance of rather over $9000. Three hundred and forty-three members were admitted during 1910, to a net total at the present time of 3963 persons.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

H. I. Reynolds, who came on the ground, representing that he held rights through the Union Oil Company, derived through a lease to Mitchell & Slocum by that corporation. Reynolds moved lumber on the claim, but nothing was done, though he had organized a company to operate. To all intents and purposes it appeared that Reynolds and his associates had abandoned the property, though this was done apparently without notifying the Union Oil Company.

In October of 1910, O. J. Stowe entered into an agreement in writing with the plaintiff and organized and capitalized a company for half a million dollars and took steps to exploit the property. Stowe started to build a rig and bunk and cook-house, when the Union stepped into the fray and began suit to quiet title and for an injunction, the defendant having also moved on to the ground and carried in lumber for the building of a rig. The Union claimed title under Richard Reed and associates, who had located the claim in 1883, calling it the Rawley claim. In 1909, defendant leased the ground to Mitchell & Slocum for a period of twenty years, there being a provision that they should begin drilling by February, 1910, and carry on the same continuously. The lessees had some work on drilling, which was done on the lease outside that and the work done by Reynolds.

The finding of the court was: "Smith's entry measures up to all the conditions imposed by the language quoted and through Stowe he had been diligently prosecuting the work toward a discovery for practically six weeks prior to the re-entry by defendant. Being thus in the rightful occupancy of the property he is entitled to the relief asked by his complaint. While the plaintiff's occupancy in the form required to hold the location had only extended for a short period of time, as against the defendant, who, with its predecessors in interest, had claimed this property since 1883, yet I believe that he is entitled to the equitable relief sought, and that the defendant should be enjoined from further disturbing or interfering with his work so long as he continues to diligently prosecute the same toward discovery. A denial of this relief would at once place valuable property, and possibly human lives, in peril and reduce the question of possession and occupancy to a situation not unlike that described by the eminent jurist writing the opinion in Katz v. Walkinshaw."

NINETY NEW DERRICKS.

COMPANY'S BIG PLANS.
Secretary L. De Sallier, of the Dawson Oil Company, has returned from the Midway field and states that the drill in the company's well No. 1 is down 920 feet. The twelve and one-half casing is to be carried 1200 feet, and from there the eight inch casing will be used.

The K. T. O., immediately north of the Dawson, has a large amount of material on the ground for the ninety derricks it is erecting. De Sallier was told by those close in touch with the company's affairs, that it will spend in at least twenty-five wells within six weeks time.

News Notes and Personals.

It is reported that the Vancouver Midway has taken over the entire holdings of the One Eleven Oil Company, on section 1, 11-24, Maricopa field. The One Eleven hit the snags. The California Oil Land Company, operating on the Old Bull's Head lease on section 31, 12-25, is down over 500 feet in its well No. 1. The company expects to push development.

The owners of the Adeline Consolidated Road Oil Company, who recently purchased the Adeline Road Oil Company's holdings in Kern county, are erecting near the boiler house a refinery or reduction plant. An asphalt expert is installing the new plant, which will have a capacity of 20,000 barrels of prepared asphalt per month. The plant will be ready for business about April 1.

Chamber Mines and Oil.

The annual meeting of the Chamber of Mines and Oil will be held in the rooms in the Germania Building Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There will be an informal smoker in connection with the installation of the new officers.

ACCUSED WILL FIGHT CASE.

Alleged Embezzler Wanted in Spokane Retains Lawyer—Authorities Issue Fugitive Warrant to Hold Him.

A fugitive warrant was issued by Deputy District Attorney Doran yesterday afternoon for A. N. Knight of Spokane who was arrested Tuesday afternoon on a charge of having embezzled $20,000 in Spokane.

Knight engaged an attorney shortly after he was arrested and an application for a writ of habeas corpus was contemplated. The detectives learning of Knight's intentions secured the fugitive warrant in order to hold him until an officer could come from Spokane.

It was said yesterday afternoon that the particular charge on which the warrant was issued for him in Spokane is that he had embezzled $738 from the Walla Walla Fruit and Produce Company.

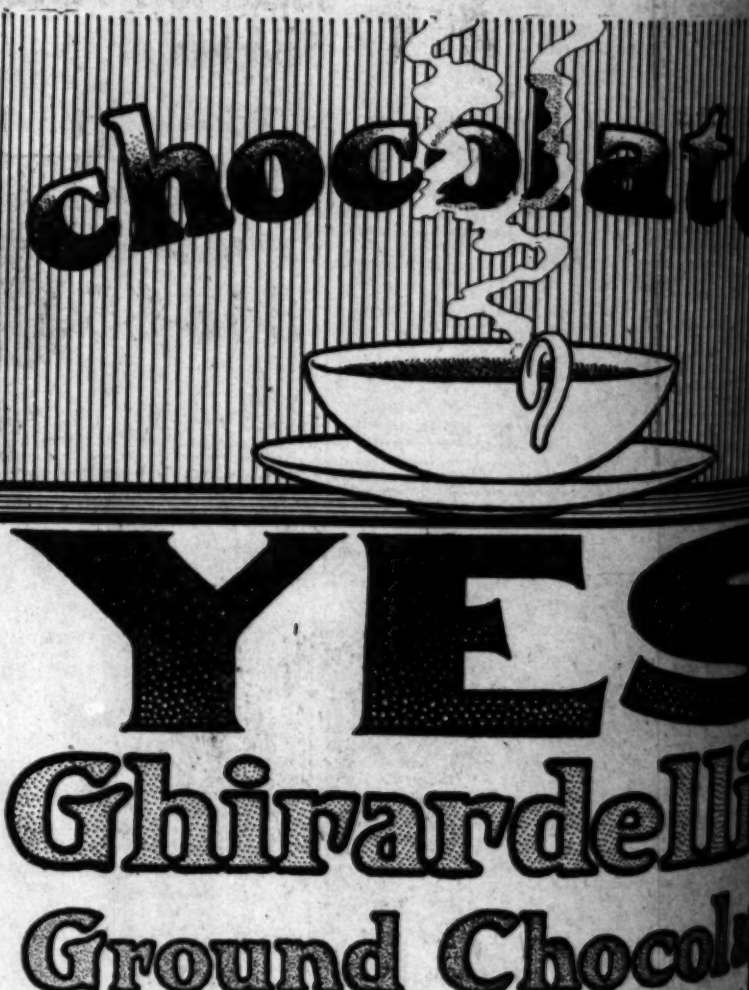

GET 'EM ANYWAY.

Patrolmen Browning and Burgess went to Los Angeles street yesterday afternoon to arrest a man charged with begging. By the time the officers arrived the man had disappeared. But they were not entirely disappointed, for when they were about to return to the Central Police Station two Japs attacked a man and all three were brought to the station. The fighters are C. C. Connelly, G. Holakayama and S. Komosu.

MOTHER PLEADS FOR HER SON.

AGED AND DESTITUTE WOMAN
SEEKS LAR'S RELEASE.

Appeal for Help to Associated Charities Elicits Pityful Phase of Case Against Supposed Bandit and More Rigid Investigation of Charge Will Be Made.

Steps looking toward a more complete investigation of the case against Arthur McNabb, now in the City Jail on suspicion of being one of the two men who attempted to hold up B. E. Sherwin on Pasadena avenue two weeks ago, were commenced yesterday by special agents of the Associated Charities. It was not until the pitiful condition of his aged mother came to the attention of the organization that all the facts in connection with young McNabb's case were known.

He seems himself to be but little better than feeble-minded, and so far has been able to give no clear account of himself to the officers. His mother, however, crouching over a tiny fire in a 25-cent room on East Avenue 53, leaves no doubt in the minds of the investigators of her sincerity in the assertion that her boy is entirely innocent of the charge. Sherwin, it is said, is less positive than formerly in his identification. His struggle with the armed bandit occurred in the dark, and in so short a space of time that more than a general description of his assailants was impossible.

According to the story which the mother, Huldah McNabb, tells the investigators, her son has lately left a private home on East Avenue 53, where he had been receiving treatment for his tubercular affection. At the time of the hold-up, she says that he was on his way thither, and though he heard the shot fired, he was unable to lend his assistance because of his great feebleness. So much of the story is confirmed by the physician who treated McNabb.

In any event, steps will be taken to relieve the pitiful destitution of the mother, of whom her son was the only support.
